RUSSIA'S RULER.

Coronation of Czar at Moscow.

Nicholas and the Empress Crowned.

Brilliant and Impressive Ceremonies.

The Capitol of All the Russias is the Scene of an Event Which Attracts World Wide Attention.

MOSCOW, May 26.—His majesty, the Emperor Nicholas Alexandrovitch, autocrat of all the Russians, and her majesty, the Empress Alexandro-Feodorovna, were solemly crowned today in the Cathedral of the Asumption, with the utmost ceremony and in accordance with all the religious forms and ancient rites.

At 7 o'clock this morning the ceremonies commenced with a salute of twenty cannons marking the opening of the day, and at the same hour the bells in the Cathedral of the Asumption began ringing Half an hour later the court dignitaries and distinguished persons who were to take part in the imperial cortege began to assemble in the halls of the palace and in the cathedral. The ladies were in court dress and the dignitaries were in full uniform.

CZAR NICHOLAS.

The envoys extraordinary, the ambassadors, the ministers plenipotentiary and the charges d'affaires, with their wives, as well as the representatives of the diplomatic corps assembled at the palace of the Kremlin shortly after 8 o'clock and were invited by the masters of the ceremonies to repair to the Cathedral of the Assumption and take the places reserved for them.

A tedeum was celebrated in the cathedral at 8 o'clock in the morning, and after prayers, the clergy in full canonicals assembled in front of the cathedral to receive her majesty, the ex-Czarina Marie Feodorovna. The latter, on the conclusion of the tedeum, repaired to the Cathedral of the Assumption, accompanied by the members of the imperial family of the highest rank, with the exception of those who were to take part in the emperor's procession, and by the distinguished guests of their majesties.

The train of the ex-czarina was carried by four court chamberlains and the imperial mantle was held up by two court officials on each side, the train of the mantle being carried by a grand dignitary of the imperial court. From the last step of the Krasnoe Kryltzo up to the cathedral entrance eight court dignitaries of the third class carried the canopy beneath which the ex-empress walked, and the golden cords of the canopy, a most gorgeous construction, were carried by eight court dignitaries of the third class.

In front of the Cathedral of the Asumption her majesty was received by the Metropolitan of Moscow, who presented her with the cross and holy water. Her majesty then received the benediction of the clergy and was escorted to her seat on the throne of the Czar Alexis Milkhalovitch, which had been placed on a special estrade for the occasion and surmounted by a beautiful canopy.

Their imperial highnesses, the grand duchesses and grand dukes, and the august guests of their majesties, took the places set aside for them, and the grand master of the ceremonies of the imperial court stationed himself to the right of the estrade. The members of the military households of the imperial grand dukes and of the foreign princesses were afterwards escorted to their places by masters of the ceremonies.

So soon as the procession of her majesty, the ex-czarina, had started for the Cathedral of the Asumption, the high court dignitaries who had assembled at the palace, received the imperial insigna in the throne hall and took up the stations allotted to them in the escort of the emperor. Before the procession started, the grand almoner of their majesties, carrying a large golden cross studded with jewels, and assisted by two deacons carrying a golden bowl full of holy water sprinkled the whole route which was to be followed by their majesties from the palace to the Cathedral of the Asumption.

The ex Empress Marie Feodorovna's departure for the Cathedral of the Assumption having been announced, the czar and czarina made their entrance in to throne hall and seated themselves on their thrones on which was a magnificent canopy. A moment later, a signal announced that the time had arrived for the departure of the imperial coretge, and the latter moved towards the cathedral. The grand procession was headed by the Chevalier guards of the ex-Empress Marie Feodorovna and was a long and brilliant one, interspersed throughout were military officers and soldiers, whose brilliant uniforms made the cathedral resplendent.

At the moment the imperial cortege appeared on leaving the palace the bells in all the churches of Moscow were rung and troops, in parade order, presented arms and rendered all military honors to the imperial party.

As their majesties approached the entrance of the cathedral the metropolitan of Moscow pronounced the usual allocution, the metropolitan of St. Petersburg presented the cross to their majesties, and the metropolitan of Keiff presented them with holy water. Entering the cathedral their majesties bowed to the knees three times before a holy door and venerated the saintly images. They afterwards moved towards the estrade and took their seats on the thrones of the Czars Michael Feodorovitch and John III.

The bishops, archbishops, and the officiating clergy placed themselves in two ranks between the entrance of the throne and the holy door, and the chorus chanted the palam "Misericordian Et Judican Cantabo Tibi Dominie." The dignitaries carrying the imperial mantles stationed themselves on the first step of the throne. A dignitary holding the sword of the empire, stood on the second step of the throne, while the bearer of the standard occupied a position on the third step. Other auxilliaries to the pageant were grouped about in suitable order.

The ceremony of the coronation and annointment was then accomplished as follows: The metropolitan of St. Petersburg mounted the steps of the throne, placed his front to the emperor and invited his majesty to make, before his faithful subjects and in a loud voice, his profession of orthodox faith, and presented him with the open book from which the emperor recited the symbol of the faith. After this the metropolitan of St. Petersburg pronounced the ritual: "Gratia spiritus sancti sit semper tecum. Amen."

The metropolitan then left the estrade and after the reading of the holy gospel the metropolitans of St. Petersburg and of Kieff mounted the steps to the throne. The emperor arose, and taking off the collar of the Order of St. Andrew, ordered that the imperial mantle with the collar, in diamonds, of that order, be presented to him. They were presented on cushions by the metropolitans of St. Petersburg and Kieff, who also assisted his majesty to put on the mantel. The metropolitan of St. Petersburg then pronounced the words: "In nomine patris et filiiet spiritus sancti. Amen."

One of the assistants of his majesty adjusted the imperial mantle. His majesty received the pontificial benediction of the metropolitan of St. Petersburg, who placed his hands on the czar's head in the form of a cross, reciting the two prayers prescribed by the ritual. The prayers terminated, the emperor ordered that the imperial crown be presented to him. Thereupon the metropolitan of St. Petersburg took the imperial crown and handed it to the emperor, who took it in his hands and placed it on his head. The metropolitan then, in a loud voice, pronounced the prescribed allocution.

In a similar manner his majesty caused to be presented to him the sceptre and the globe, and having taken the sceptre in his right hand and the globe in the left, he seated himself upon the throne. A few moments later his majesty arose and placed the sceptre and globe upon cushions.

The monarch then called upon her majesty, the Empress Alexandria Feodorovna, to approach, and she knelt before him an a velvet cushion richly embroidered with gold. His majesty thereupon solemnly lifted the crown from his own head and touched with it the forehead of the empress. He then replaced the crown upon his own head. His majesty afterwards took up the crown of the empress and placed it on the head of her majesty. Her majesty's imperial mantle and the collar of the Order of St. Andrew was next presented with the same ceremony. This done, her majesty took her seat on the throne while the emperor again took the sceptre in his right hand and the globe in his left.

The archdeacon next proclaimed the imperial title in extenso and intoned the verses "Domine, Salvum Fac Imperalorem" and "Domine, Salvan Fac Imperaltecum," followed by the "Ad Multos Annos," which the choir repeated three times. After the chanting the bells of the cathedral and of all the other sacred edifices throughout Moscow were rung and a salute of 101 cannon shots was fired.

The emperor then arose, handed the sceptre and the sceptre and the globe to the attendants and knelt down to recite, from the book presented to him by the metropolitan of St. Petersburg, the prayer prescribed for the occasion. The prayer terminated, the metropolitan and all present knelt and in the name of the nation, offered up prayers to the Almighty. After the prayer the metropolitan of St. Petersburg addressed a short allocution to the emperor and the choir entoned the tedeum to the sound of the bells of all the churches of the Kremlin. During this ceremony the czar stood with bared head. The reading of the Holy Gospel followed, and two archbishops presented the Holy book to their majesties to kiss.

The anthem terminated and the officiating clergy having been notified that the holy door was open, two archbishops, assisted by arch deacons, advanced from the altar towards his majesty to announce to the latter that the holy ceremony of the annointment was to begin. Thereupon his majesty, having handed his sword to one of his august assistants, descended from the throne, and, preceded by the scepter, the globe, and the crown, went towards the holy door, followed by the Empress Alexandria Feodorona.

On both sides of his majesty were his assistants, the minister of the imperial household, the minister of war, the aide de camps, etc. Approaching the holy door, the emperor and empress stood upon the golden cloth. The attendants grouped themselves on either side and behind their majesties. The metropolitan of St. Petersburg, bearing the precious amphora with the holy chrism, dipped it in the golden bowl prepared for the purpose and anointed the forehead, eyelids, nostrils, ears, chest and hands of the emperor, pronouncing the words: "Imressio doni spiritus sancti." The ringing of bells, and firing of a salute of 101 guns, notified the populace of the conclusion of this ceremony.

After the holy unction, his majesty placed himself on the right, in front of the image of the Savior, and the empress approached the holy door, where the metropolitan of St. Petersburg anointed her on the forehead, pronouncing the words of the ritual.

The metropolitan of St. Petersburg afterwards introduced the emperor into the sanctuary of the holy door, the other prelates officiating, holding up the imperial mantle from the moment he passed the door.

Subsequently the emperor received the holy communion, as it is administered to priests—that is, separately—by virtue of his soverignty.

Leaving the sanctuary his majesty again took up his place before the image of the Saviour, while the empress received holy communion according to the usual rite. Their majesties returned to their thrones, where the post communion ceremonies were performed, and at the end of the mass the archdeacon intoned the verses: "Domine, salvum fac imperiatorium," and "Domine, salvum fac imperiatricem." The choir repeated three times, "Ad multos annos." At the end of the service the clergy presented the cross to their majesties for them to kiss. The emperor replaced the crown on his head, again took the sceptre and the globe in his hands and the clergy and all the persons present presented their felicitations upon the conclusion of the ceremonies of the coronation and the annointment.

The procession then moved back to the palace in the same order and with the same ceremony as upon the occasion of leaving it, preceded by the cortege of the ex-empress, Marie Feodorovna. After leaving the Cathedral of the Asumption, the emperor and empress repaired to the Cathedral of the Archangel Michael, where they were received by the bishop of Kostroma, who presented them with the cross and holy water and preceded them into the cathedral.

Upon entering the sacred edifice his majesty placed his crown, sceptre and globe in the hands of attendants, their majesties knelt and prayed before the holy images, relics and tombs of their ancestors and the archdeacon read the litanies. Upon resuming the crown, sceptre and globe the emperor proceeded in state with the empress to the Cathedral of the Annunciation, where they were received by the archbishop of Khorson and the clergy. There also his majesty took off the crown and placed the sceptre and globe in the hands of those charged to receive them and the usual religious ceremonies followed.

From the Cathedral of the Annunciation their majesties went to the palace and at the Krasnoe Kryltzo received the benediction of the metropolitan of St. Petersburg. Entering the throne hall of the palace his majesty gave the sceptre and globe into the hands of their keepers and he and the empress, wearing their crowns and imperial mantles, retired to their private apartments. At the banquet which followed at the Granovitai Palata the utmost state was observed, the imperial grand dukes and grand duchesses and august foreign princes and the leading members of their suites were in attendance with the holy synod, the high clergy and others. But only persons of the highest importance were present at the imperial banquet, the other guests being entertained, according to their rank.

Work on tearing up Pontiac street for paving, between Calhoun and Lafayette streets, was commenced this afternoon by Contractor Moellering. DALLAS F. GREEN.

STREWN WITH DEAD

Terrific Cyclone in Michigan.

Death Roll Runs Into the Hundreds.

Villages of Yesterday Are Ruins Today.

Terrible Ruin Wrought by the Winds in the Path Over Which it Swept.

OXFORD, Mich., May 26.—A terrible cyclone struck the village of Oakwood last evening and entirely wiped it off the earth, destroying all the buildings and leaving death and destruction in its trail.

From reports that continue to come in from adjacent points the full force of the fierce wind that swept this part of Oakland county is beginning to be appreciated. Everywhere is devastation. Villages that were yesterday the homes of contented citizens are today desolate sites, and maimed and bruised fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters mourn for those who met death in the twisting, grinding, resistless wind.

The death roll in this vicinity may run to the hundred mark, for many homes that were on the edge of the cyclone suffered from its fury.

At Oakwood, a hamlet five miles north of Oxford, having a population of about 200, not a house is left standing. The two churches are flattened to the earth. The path of the storm was between a half and three-fourths of a mile wide and it extended in a nearly straight course eastward for over a distance of thirty miles. A remarkable circumstance is that the buildings in close proximity to each other were blown in opposite directions, some being swept northward and others southward.

THE DEAD.

The following are known to have been killed in this county:

Near Ortonville—W. J. Mitchell, wife, and two children, Mrs. Henry Quick, John Wilkins, John Porritt, Mrs. Joseph Porritt. John Milkey, T. E. Gleason, Mrs. T. D. Eaton, Abe Kitchell, Mrs. Wm. Kitchen, Edwin Fifield, two children of Mr. Howe.

At Oakwood—Mrs. Susan Stewart, Mrs. E. A. Wolverton, Mrs. Wm. Davison and daughter, Ida, Ed. Fifield, child of Alfred Fifield. Ed Howe is fatally injured.

At Thomas—Charles Hicks and son.

Reported dead at North Oxford—Mrs. Oscar Slate, Thomas Bishop, a farm laborer, name unknown; Joseph Smiley and son.

Injured—Frank Laidlaw, wife and child; Mrs. Laidlaw was seriously hurt.

THE INJURED.

At Thomas—Mrs. C. A. Hicks, frightfully crushed; Mrs. Sid Copeman, will not live; Elvory Hicks, badly crushed; T. P. Knapp, head badly bruised; William Althouse, internal injuries; Geo. Hibler, both legs broken; William Carr, fearfully bruised, injured internally; Charles Bradley, injured about the head; A. M. Kidder, arm badly shattered.

At Oakwood—Al. Fifield, both legs broken, daughter, Jessie, badly injured; Harvey Francis, internal injuries, cannot live; Myron Johnson, leg broken; Mrs. E. A. Howe and one or two children.

Near Ortonville, between twenty and twenty-five were more or less seriously injured.

CUT A WIDE SWATHE.

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., May 26.—Last night's cyclone left a track five hundred and fifty feet wide through the southeastern part of town, which looks as though a reaper with a gigantic scythe had been endeavoring to mow a harvest. Fortunately nearly everybody was in such positions as to avoid fatalities. No one was killed outright and none of the injured have died.

The injured are: Mrs. Anna Pohl, widow, back broken, injured internally, breast crushed in; will not live; Henry Pohl, aged fourteen, hip broken; injured internally; Adolph Pohl, aged twelve, right leg broken, bruised about shoulders and body; Willie Pohl, aged ten, injured internally, right leg broken, left shoulder dislocated, recovery doubtful; Mrs. Joseph Harden, injured internally, cut about the head and arms; Russell Carter, head and face cut; Mrs. Russell Carter, injured internally, breast and shoulders bruised; Baby Carter, head badly cut; Gustave Cutche, cut on head and right arm broken; Mrs Wm. Ormsby, left arm broken and badly cut on face; Miss Anna Belle Leabo, left arm broken, right arm injured, skull fractured.

The family of Ferdinand Heckman miraculously escaped. They had barely gotten into the cellar when their house was blown out of existence. Fred LaForge and wife had just gone to a relative's house when their home was destroyed. The roof and sides of the largest of the Charbeneau icehouses were blown off, leaving the mass of ice standing.

THIRTEEN PERSONS DROWNED.

CAIRO, Ill., May 26.—The storm struck this locality at 8:30 a. m. There was a terrific wind and rain. The opera house and union depot were unroofed, numbers of trees destroyed, and signs blown down, but no houses were destroyed nor lives lost in the city. The ferry boat Katherane was capsized at the mouth of the Ohio, drowning all on board but the captain, engineer and clerk. As near as can be learned, the dead number thirteen, among them Captain Rittenhouse, superintendent of the Ferry company, Dr. Orr's two daughters, and Richard Thurman, O. F. Wickliff and Chas. G. Hofer, a merchant of this city. Only three bodies, those of Thurman, Miss Orr and a deck hand, have been recovered. A tug is searching for the others Business in the city is practically at a standstill.

LATEST FROM M'GREGOR.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 26.—Later reports from North McGregor, Iowa, relative to the havoc caused by the storm and flood on Sunday night, shows that the destruction of the interests of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road at that point, as well as of the little town are about complete. The total damage to the property of the company is now estimated at $125,000. The loss of life will probably be found to be nearer to twenty than ten. Of thirteen persons known to be missing the bodies of six have been recovered. The water is receding very slowly. But little in the way of the search for bodies or the recovery of property has yet been done. It will be at least ten days before the St. Paul railway can resume operations on its line west from McGregor.

HOME MISSIONS

Occupies the Assembly's Attention This Morning.

The Report Shows a Satisfactory Condition of the Finances—The Proceedings.

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 26.—The opening of the Presbyterian general assembly session today was characterized by a struggle over the approval of the records. These showed that resolutions in regard to the Presbyterian house in New York were referred to the finance committee and made an exclusive order for this morning. Elder McDougall contended that the record was wrong. All the clerks united in maintaining its correctness and the latter view prevailed. The order was subject to an understanding that in case the resolutions called for serious discussion that they should go over. Elder McDougall moved that they be referred to the joint committees on home and foreign missions and that their report be made a special order for Thursday afternoon. The assembly gave unanimous consent to this course. The committee on bills and overtures reported papers from the Presbyteries of New York and Long Island, stating their intention to exercise their constitutional rights in the reception and license of theological students. These papers were called forth by the injunction placed on the Presbyterians of New York a year ago against receiving the students of the Union seminary. The papers were referred to the judicial committee.

The regular order was then taken up, being the report on home missions. The present debt was almost $300,000; receipts amounted to $729,433 and expenditures reached $858,985. From the reunion fund the receipts reached $191,230. The cost of administration eggregated $81,922. Under the board is a total of 1 544 ministers, 1 830 churches and a membership of 100 000. During the year 9,179 new members have been added. The report of the committee made recommendations as to the methods of administration and provided for a committee of nine to investigate the affairs of the board in order to secure improved efficiency and any possible retrenchment.

CONFERENCE WORK.

The Morning Session Occupied With Committee Reports.

The Conference Then Gets Into a Discussion Over a Night Session.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 26.—The M. E conference opened promptly on time today, with Bishop W. X. Ninde in the chair. Robert Forbes conducted the devotional exercises, and after several minor reports had been received the book committee made its report. The chief item of interest in the report was the creation of the Voice book editor. At present Editor Kelly, of New York, and Editor Moore, of Cincinnati, act in this capacity, but the committee decided that the work should be taken out of their hands and placed in the hands of one man. The conference did not take kindly to the proposition and for an hour it was discussed pro and con. George C. Sturgiss made the report for the book committee and defended it against the objections of the opposition. After the reading of the book committee's report Dr. Lanahan arose and opposed it by saying that he thought a careful examination of the records will show that the conference had about one officer for every eleven or twelve delegates. He was followed by W. V. Kelly, editor of the Methodist Review, and book editor, who also spoke against it, saying that he did not think the time had come for such an editor as book editor. Geo. C. Sturgiss, chairman of the book committee, next replied to the gentleman after several resolutions had been made to strike out the creation of a book editor. He said it had met with the approval of every one of the book committee and he hoped it would be adopted. A motion to lay on the table was next made, but it being lost, Dr. Miller took the floor, while another delegate tried to move the previous question and proceeded to speak in favor of it.

After extended debate the report was adopted. The conference spent the next half hour debating whether or not a session should be held this evening in spite of the temperance anniversary. Frequent flights of oratory and a parliamentary tangle was the result and then a recess was taken without anything definite being decided.

When the conference again convened the special order, the consecration of the three newly elected bishops, was taken up. Bishop Bowman presided and brought up the rear of the line of bishops, elders and candidates. He announced the singing of the hymn "Heralds of the Cross," and after the vast audience had sung the hymn through, still standing, Bishop Vincent read the collect as follows:

"Almighty God, who, by Thy son Jesus Christ didst give to Thy holy apostles, elders and evangelists many excellent gifts, and didst charge them to feed Thy flock; give grace, we beseech Thee, to all the ministers and pastors of Thy church that they may diligently preach Thy word and duly administer the godly discipline thereof; and grant to the people that they may obediently follow the same, that all may receive the crown of everlasting glory through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen."

The epistle from Acts XX, 17 35, by Bishop Thoburn, followed. The Gospel was recited by Bishop Taylor. It was the Gospel of St. John, chapter xxi, 15 17.

Subsequent to this came the actual ceremony of consecration, the most important feature of the entire conference. The candidates were presented before the assembled multitude by the elders. They are: Charles Cardwell McCabe, by Rev. L. D. McCabe, D. D., and Rev. T. C. Iliff, D. D.; Earl Cranston, by Rev. D. L. Parker and Rev. S. Rust, D. D., and Joseph Hartsell by Rev. M. C. B. Mason, D. D., and Rev. Samuel L. Beidler, Ph. D. Prayer was by Bishop Ninde and prayer was offered by Bishop Fitzgerald. A very imposing service was the formal examination of the candidates and invocation of divine grace upon the event by Bishop Andrews.

After prayer by Bishop Fowler came the important movement of the laying on of hands and presentation of the Bible indicative to consecration as bishop of Christ's chosen flock of pastors. The meeting was brought to a conclusion with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Foster.

WORKS BURNED.

Aultman and Taylor Suffer a Heavy Loss.

A Portion of Their Immense Factory Destroyed—Eighteen Horses Cremated.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, May 26—Lightning struck the warehouse of Auttman & Taylor at 12 o'clock last night and immediately started a fire, which for awhile threatened the entire plant As it was the warehouse, which contained 400 separators and a large number of horse power machines, the entire season's supply, is a total loss. The paint shop and dry houses were also destroyed. The blacksmith shop, moulding shop and carpenter shop were saved. The loss is estimated at about $300,000 and is fully covered by insurance. A livery stable near by also took fire and was destroyed and eighteen horses perished in the flames. The trains on the Pittsburg tracks, near which the burned works were located, were detained from one to three hours by the intense heat of the fire.

CRUELTY TO A DOG.

Fined $5 and Costs in a Justice Court.

Divorced Parties Marry Again — Maccabee Case — Brent Tolan's Contract and Bond.

Justice France fined Charles Lincoln $5 and costs for cruelty to animals. The complaint alleged that the defendant had taken the young dog of Alphonse Havert and thrown it over his fence, thereby breaking the leg of the animal.

N. G. Hunter, of Wabash, grand chancellor of the Knights of the Maccabees, is arguing a demurer in the superior court to the complaint in the case of John Anderson against the Maccabee order. The defense has not yet filed an answer in the case.

Christian Schwartz and Magdeline Schwartz have been given a license to wed. The parties were recently divorced and now desire to live together again.

The contract for the employment of B. S. Tolan as architect for the new court house was today finally completed between the county commissioners and Mr. Tolan. The latter furnishes a bond of $50,000 for the faithful performance of his duty. It is signed by R. L. Romy, Frank J. Gruber, John W. White and L. J. Bobilya. Mr. Tolan is given for his services 5 per cent. of the actual cost of the building, 2½ per cent. of which is given him when the contract is awarded. If the building costs $400 000, the pay of Mr. Tolan would be $20,000.

MYSTERIOUS CASE.

Harry Beyerle's Throat Cut From Ear to Ear.

Says He Fell Down Stairs on a Beer Bottle—Looks Like Attempted Suicide.

Harry Beyerle, a young man who has been employed in Brames' bottling works, cut his throat night before last, but whether or not it was with suicidal intent is just now unknown.

Beyerle boards with Mrs. Moran, at No. 435 South Hanna street. He was found in his room with a frightful gash in his throat, extending almost from one ear to the other. When Dr. McCausland arrived a half hour later Beyerle had bled almost to death. The wound was closed up and Dr. McCausland says today that the young man will get well.

The general impression has been that Beyerle tried to kill himself with a razor and failed. The only explanation he gives himself is that he started to walk down stairs and fell upon a beer bottle, which broke and cut his throat. There is considerable of the mysterious about the case and it seems that there is a preconcerted effort to keep the truth away from the newspapers. It appears doubtful that such a gash could be cut in such a manner by a fall upon a piece of glass.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Board of Public Safety Will Attend to It.

Tour of All the Engine Houses is to be Made Tomorrow Afternoon.

The board of public safety now intends to pay a little attention to the fire department. Thus far the board has been attending to the police department. A few changes have already been made in the force and a few more will be made.

There are about forty applications in for positions on the fire force. The board will go out tomorrow afternoon and make a tour of all the engine houses for the purpose of seeing just how everything stands.

A meeting of the board will be had tomorrow night and whether or not any heads will be chopped off among the firemen remains to be seen.

FREE SILVER WING

Holding a Meeting at Indianapolis, Ind.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 26.—Prominent representatives of the free silver wing of the democratic party are holding a meeting this afternoon at the Grand hotel and are discussing the plan of operation which will be pursued until the meeting of the state convention, June 24 Although it is yet one month until the convention meets, the free silver wing is confident of controlling not only the platform, but the ticket, and the meeting today is to make final arrangements. The meeting was called one week ago when the executive committee met here, the idea being to perfect arrangements for capturing the delegates and through them the committees. The free silver people expect to control the committees on rules, organization, credentials and platform and will discuss names for these committees They will also discuss the candidate for governor. Although Mr. Shively is in the lead and if the convention were held now he would receive nearly the entire support of this wing of the party, yet the friends of Mr. Shanklin have been again agitating his nomination and the wing desires to act in unison. A candidate will probably be decided upon.

OVER A WOMAN.

Two Men Had a Fight on Berry Street.

They Were All Arrested by Officer Hines—A Sensational Case Developed.

Officer Hines gathered in a trio this morning on East Berry street who had quite a tale to tell in police court. They were two men and a woman.

Hines saw two men fighting on the corner by the city hall. He stopped the racket and demanded an explanation. One man said the other fellow had been with his wife. The other fellow said he met the woman on the street and she told him that her "man" had been abusing her. He said he was assisting her to find another boarding house. Hines took all three to the police station.

A little questioning brought out all the facts in the case. The woman's name is Jennie Piper. For three months she has been living with a man named William McClellan as his wife, at No. 103 West Main street. Last night the woman went out upon the street and picked up a traveling man whose name in police court was Charles D. Smith, but whose right name is something else. She claims that McClellan compelled her to do this. At first McClellan claimed the woman was his wife, but this she denied.

All three were charged with adultery. Smith plead guilty and paid his fine of $10 50 and departed with a smile.

McClellan also plead guilty. He claimed to Mayor Scherer that he wanted to marry the woman, and that he intended to do so just as soon as she could get a divorce from her husband, who is now in Canada. He professed the most intense love for her and said he could not live without her. He said he had a divorced wife in Canada. McClellan was fined $10 50.

Mrs. Piper did not say anything about sharing in the love business. She plead guilty to the charge and Mayor Scherer fined her the same as the rest. She told the mayor she would get out of the city if he would give her a chance. The mayor, therefore, suspended sentence long enough to let her get away. After she left the court room McClellan tried to induce Mayor Scherer to cut the price on the fine. He said he only had five dollars and that he did not want to go to jail. The mayor refused to reduce the amount and McClellan started to jail. Before he got out of the police station, however, he produced a roll of bills as large as a man's fist and paid his fine to Officer Hines.

This squared the entire matter and McClellan started out to find the woman again. Whether they will both leave town or not is still a question. They came here together from Canada about eight months ago and have been here ever since.

BOARD MEETING.

Routine Business Transacted Last Night.

Contract Let for Setting Drinking Fountains—West Fifth Street to be Improved.

At the meeting of the board of public works last night the contract for setting the new drinking fountains in various parts of the city was let to Elmer Martin, the south side plumber.

The contract for furnishing lumber for the city during the ensuing year was let to Kilian Baker, at $15.40 per 1,000 feet.

The board fixed the salary of the day man at the crematory at $45 per month and of the night man at $40 per month. The pay of the acting city scavenger was placed at $12 per month.

Councilman Scheid complained of a low sidewalk on East DeWald street, and Attorney J. B. Harper made a similar complaint about one on Barr street, near Washington.

The engineer was instructed to prepare plans for the grading and laying sidewalks on both sides of West Fifth street from Wells street to Barthold avenue.

The clerk was instructed to order six copies of the new city directory.

Several of the residents of West Berry street, petitioned the board to have removed two large trees which recently fell into St. Mary's river at the outlet of the two sewers between Rockhill and Nelson streets. The board, upon consideration, found that the ground adjacent belonged to John M. Miller, and instructed the clerk to notify Mr. Miller to remove the trees.

A. O. U. W. Friends Present Him With a Past Master Workman's Jewel.

Wm. F. Reitze, the teller of the Old National bank, was treated to a pleasant surprise last Saturday evening at the home of Dr. J. W. Younge, in South Wayne, by a number of his friends of A O. U. W. lodge No. 19, who presented him with a past master workman's jewel in honor of the long service he had given that organization in the office of receiver. The affair was arranged so that he was ignorant of the object of the gathering until Dr. Younge, with a speech which was appropriate to the occasion, stepped forward and in the name of his friends presented him with the handsome jewel. Mr. Reitze was taken completely unawares, but he thanked his donors as best he could and he did it gracefully. Elegant refreshments were then served the thirty five ladies and gentlemen present by Mrs. Younge, and the balance of the evening was spent with music and other social amusements.

AGAIN the relentless cyclone brings death and destruction—this time in Michigan.

LEGISLATIVE honors are being sought for quite extensively this year. There are several candidates from this county for the democratic nominations.

THE democrats of Montgomery county met in convention at Crawfordsville last Saturday and adopted resolutions favoring Governor Matthews for president, and Senator James M. Sellers for governor.

THE famous city of Moscow has been the scene of many royal fetes during the past week or two, but the coronation ceremony today is the crowning event.

IT looks as if John Clark Ridpath, of Greencastle, the historian, will be nominated for congress by the democrats of the Fifth Indiana district. He has indicated that he will not decline the nomination.

THERE is talk of the president's dissolving congress if it does not adjourn pretty soon, a prerogative which it seems he has the right to exercise, although no president has ever done it. But we live in a progressive age and a great many things are done nowadays that our forefathers would not have done.

NEXT Monday the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette and Tribune will consolidate. Negotiations have been progressing for weeks, but the announcement was not made until yesterday. The paper will be called the Commercial Tribune and will probably be issued from the Commercial-Gazette plant.

THE crop prospects among the cereal producing nations of the world are not encouraging, and so far as reports have been published everything looks favorable to better prices. This will prove welcome intelligence to farmers of this country who have been supplying foreign markets under limited demands at impoverishingly low prices.

IT is now alleged that the only object of Quay in visiting McKinley was to present himself as a candidate for chairman of the republican national committee to manage McKinley's campaign. Mr. Quay is evidently one of those men who look high to see if there is anything in sight that they want, but take whatever is within reach.

IF John J. Douglas, of Akron, Ohio, shall succeed in getting the prohibition nomination for the presidency, as he says he will, a picturesque element will be added to the campaign. He is a colored man, who has attracted much attention in the west by his vigorous work in favor of prohibition. He is really a mixture of three races—Scotch, Indian and negro—and though he is only a hodcarrier, he believes that he has been chosen by Providence as the standard bearer of the prohibition cause.

PROHIBITIONISTS.

Thousands of Them Gathering at Pittsburg.

The Temperance Question Seems to Have Been Laid Aside for the Present.

PITTSBURG, May 26.—Nearly all the delegates to the national prohibition convention have arrived and thousands of visitors interested in the proceedings have come with them. As each state delegation arrives, the friends of both factions, free silver and gold standard, got after them with arguments of persuasion. Each faction is doing its utmost to proselyte supporters of the other's principles. Each faction claims a majority of the delegates, but from the eagerness of the various leaders to win converts, it is as yet anybody's fight. The first question upon which the opposing wings of the party will test their strength will be the naming of a temporary chairman. He will be chosen at the meeting of the national central committee to be held at the Seventh avenue hotel tonight. Those prominently mentioned for the place are A. A. Stevens, of Tyron, Pa., and Edward J. Wheelock, of New York. The former will be backed by the narrow gauge, or gold standard men, while the latter will carry the free silver standard. The National Inter-collegiate Prohibition association, claimiug to represent one hundred and fifty colleges of this country, will hold an oratorical contest to-night. There will be ten contestants, each of whom is champion of the state from which he comes.

WILL CLOSE FRIDAY.

All the Glass Factories But One.

Over 5,000 Men Will Then be Idle, Many of Them Citizens of Indiana.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 26.—In harmony with the agreement of the western and southern wings of glass manufacturers' associations, all the factories in the country but one will shut down next Friday, May 29, for an indefinite period. The suspension will last at least three months, perhaps longer, and will affect 5,000 glass workers, comprising blowers, gatherers, cutters, flatteners, day hands and laborers. The one factory that may not close is that of James A. Chambers, at New Kensington, employing 500 men. In June a delegate convention of workers will assemble in this city to discuss the proposed changes in the policy of the association. The convention is expected to be the most important ever held, and the factional quarrels which have been disturbing the affairs of the association are expected to be fought to a sharp finish. A contest with the associated manufacturers over the annual wage scale is looked for. Work in the coal mines along the Monongahela and Youghiegheny rivers has also been generally suspended, on account of low water. Over 6,000 miners are idle.

MADE HOMELESS.

Canadian Town Swept by a Fire.

Catholic Church, Several Stores and Many Residences Are Destroyed.

DESERETO, Ont., May 26.—Yesterday afternoon fire broke out in the tie dock of the Rathburn company and in a short time spread to the docks adjoining, destroying large quantities of shingles, posts, hardwood, etc, a flour mill, bran house, elevator, and the Canoe club boat house. Going northward and eastward it swept away almost the entire eastern portion of the town. The Roman Catholic church and several stores were consumed. The flames spread so rapidly that many lost all their possessions. About 9 o'clock a terrific down pour of rain helped to extinguish the flames. About seventy-five families are homeless. The loss will aggregate $350,000.

DRINK FOR THIRSTY DOGS.

Humane Physician Furnishes Ice Water for Canine Wayfarers.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—"Ice water for dogs." This is the inscription, neatly lettered, on a sign displayed before a small shallow zinc trough in front of a physician's office in Washington. The trough is painted a sky blue color, and always contains water which passes through a refrigerator. By a floating valve the flow of water is regulated. The dogs are not supposed to read the sign, but they have discovered that the water is for their benefit, and many of them stop daily to drink from the trough.

TURKISH SOLDIERS

Continue Their Brutal Treatment of Christians.

ATHENS, May 26.—Advices received here from the Island of Crete state that the Turkish soldiers at Retimo are continuing their attacks upon the Christians, who have barricaded themselves within their houses at that port. Telegraphic communication with the Island of Crete, excepting messages to and from the foreign consuls there, have been prohibited by the Turkish authorities.

WALLING ON TRIAL.

Jackson's Accomplice Now in the Box.

NEWPORT, Ky., May 26.—The trial of Alonzo Walling for the murder of Pearl Bryan began today before Judge Helm. Attorneys Lockhart and Nelson, the same who appeared in the Scott Jackson case, conduct the prosecution, while Colonel Washington and Attorney Sheppard appear for the defendant. Thirty-two men were examined and six accepted as jurors before the forenoon recess.

STRIKE ORDERED.

Western Miners Carry Out a Threat to Quit Work.

DENVER, Col., May 26.—The Western Federation of Miners today ordered a strike in the northwestern Colorado coal fields by which 500 men walked out. The disagreement is over the refusal of the operators to reinstate twenty-two men discharged at the Simpson mine and refusal to adopt the miners' schedule of wages.

FAMILY MURDERED.

Mrs. Martin Frost and Three Children the Victims.

HARRISONVILLE, Mo, May 26.—The sheriff was summoned to Cleveland, this county, on a telegram, this morning, stating that the entire family of Martin Frost, consisting of wife and three children, had been murdered. Frost is a prominent farmer.

CRITICALLY ILL.

Col. John S. Mosby, the ex-Confederate Leader.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—Col. John S. Mosby, the ex-confederate soldier, and more recently consul to Hong Kong, is lying critically ill at his home in this city. He is suffering from appendicitis.

D. W. Bitner, the South Calhoun street grocer, is giving double measure to all customers today. This liberality is all due to the hilarious condition of his spirits, brought about by the arrival of a bright little baby girl at his home.

Dr. C. H. Martz is at Indianapolis, where he reads a paper before the state convention of homepathists, which is in session there. He will return Thursday morning.

Members of the St. Charles Benevolent society will meet Sunday morning at 7 o'clock at the St. Mary's school hall.

AN OPEN LETTER

From Mr. W. H. Jones, of This City, to Hon. W. D. Bynum.

The Cause of the Evils to Our Monetary System Lies Back of the Coinage Question.

The following open letter, written by Mr. Wm. H. Jones, of this city, to Hon. W. D. Bynum, of Indianapolis, is given by Mr. Jones to THE SENTINEL for publication:

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 25, 1896.

Hon. W. D. Bynum, Indianapolis:

DEAR SIR:—Your appeal for a general consultation among the leaders of the democratic party at Indianapolis on the 28th inst, on the ratio between gold and silver in the coinage, prompts me to suggest that the cause of the evils which you propose to remedy on so short notice, lies back of the coinage, and is strongly intrenched in the constitution itself. It is this constitutional cause that produces the evils complained of; and I respectfully submit for the calm judgment of yourself and associates, that no amount of counseling among party leaders over the results of it, can be productive of permanent good, until the cause that produces them shall be removed. This constitutional cause and source of the evils complained of in the gold and silver coinage, is found in the provision that allows senate amendments to house bills for raising revenues; thus taking control of the national revenues out of the hands of the people's only immediate representatives in the government, and placing that control, together with that of the national finances that depend upon the revenues, under paramount control of the senate, that owns no shadow of responsibility of any kind, either direct or contingent, immediate or remote, to the people of the United States.

Though it is no part of the present purpose to attempt a full statement of the causes that compelled the framers to put this exclusion of the people from control of their public revenues in the constitution, it seems needful to say that the provision owes its existence in the constitution to the extreme jealousy of the states, lest the separate sovereignty of each should be wiped out, unless the paramount control of all federal legislation—that of the national revenues included—should be lodged in the senate. But for this groundless apprehension, control of the public revenues must have remained in the hands of the immediate representatives of the people, under the federal constitution, just as it had been in the house of commons of the British parliament for hundreds of years before our own constitution was established. (See Blackstone's Commentaries, marginal page 169, of vol. I)

I am led by these reflections to ask both yourself and associates to frame some satisfactory answer to the following question, viz:

Why is it that under widely differing forms of government, as well as of national conditions, in England, France and Germany, this constant public nuisance of instability and change in the national revenues and the finances that are founded upon them, is practically unknown? I cannot imagine what your answer, or that of the other party leaders to this question may be; but for myself and for the great mass of other common people who do not aspire to party leadership, and who are supposed to be led by your and other leaders' opinions, I dare affirm, that the difference between the people of the United States and those of the other countries named, in respect to the national revenues and finances, is owing to the fact that in all the European countries named, whatever acts for raising the national revenue are passed by the immediate representatives of the people, are not liable to amendment in any other branch or department of the government, but must be accepted or rejected by them as a whole; while, on the contrary, nothing that our representatives can do in respect to bills for raising the national revenues, and thereby sustaining the national finances that are dependent upon them, is of any force or validity at all, until it has passed the muster of every other department of the government. And "that's what the matter" with both the national revenues and the national finances; and that's what will continue to be the matter with both of them, until the constitution shall be so changed as to give to the immediate representatives of the people in congress the same control of revenue bills as is exercised by the representatives of the people in the other countries named.

I must apologize for so imperfect an outline of what I conceive to be needed to give to the people and government of the United States a stable public policy in respect to the national revenues and finances, that shall not be liable to discussion and change on every change of party administration; but what I have written is the best I can do in the short time that hardly suffices for writing formal regrets for not being able to be present at the proposed conference.

Very respectfully,
WM. H. JONES.

Miss Jennie McClelland leaves next week for Bluffton and Montpelier to attend commencement exercises. She will then go to Warsaw to spend a three months' vacation at that place with friends.

SHOT HIMSELF.

Suicide of Samuel Fehlman, Formerly of This City.

Samuel Fehlman, formerly a resident of this city, committed suicide Sunday near Decatur. For a year or so Fehlman had been living with a farm family named Schilling. Sunday afternoon the family went to a river not far away to witness a baptizing. When they left Fehlman was sitting in a rocking chair near an open window. When they returned home he was lying on the floor in front of the chair with a bullet hole in his head and a revolver lying on the floor. Fehlman had been dead for some time.

About fifteen years ago Fehlman was married in this city, but his wife lived only a short time. After her death Fehlman became a sad-hearted man and never appeared the same as he had been. Six years ago he went to Decatur and worked about at odd jobs until a year ago, when he went to work for the Schilling family. His constant grieving over the loss of his wife, coupled with ill-health, which came upon him in recent years, is supposed to have been the cause of his suicide.

The remains were brought to this city last night and taken to Wellman's undertaking establishment, where they were prepared for burial. Fehlman had a sister, Mrs. Ernstine, of Wells street.

A number of school children were bruised and scared by an accident that happened at the Jefferson street school yesterday. A platform had been erected upon which the children were seated for the purpose of having their pictures taken. This platform gave way and precipitated the entire crowd to the ground. Fortunately there were no serious results.

Beware Of Mercury!

Mr. Henry Roth, of 1848 South 9th Street, St. Louis, was given the usual mercurial treatment for contagious blood poison. He was twice pronounced cured, but the disease returned each time, he was seized with rheumatic pains, and red lumps and sores covered his body. "I was in a horrible fix" he says, "and the more treatment I received, the worse I seemed to get. A New York specialist said he could cure me, but his treatment did me no good whatever. I was stiff and full of pains, my left arm was useless so that I was unable to do even the lightest work. This was my condition when I began to take S. S. S., and a few bottles convinced me that I was being benefitted. I continued the medicine, and one dozen bottles cured me sound and well. My system was under the effects of mercury, and I would soon have been a complete wreck but for S. S. S."

REMARKABLE TESTIMONY

IN THE

COURTS OF LOUISIANA

OF EMINENT PHYSICIANS AS TO THE CURATIVE EFFECTS OF A WONDERFUL

Mississippi Mineral Spring,

(FROM THE HARTFORD, CONN., TIMES.)

In an action of law recently instituted by the Stafford Mineral Springs and Hotel Company, limited, of New Orleans, who also have a depot at 256 Broadway, New York, and whose Springs are near Vossburg, Miss., the the suit is against E. J. Hart & Co., wholesale druggists of New Orleans. Deposition regarding the character and medicinal value of the Stafford Mineral Spring Water was taken by order of the Civil District Court in the parish of Orleans, State of Louisiana, of a number of leading physicians of New York, Brooklyn, New Orleans, and elsewhere, which depositions were supplemented by the testimony of numerous physicians in open court at the trial of the case.

Among the physicians testifying as to the curative effects of the water in Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Cystitus, and other Kidney, Bladder, and Stomach troubles were:

Dr. Edward Bradley of New York, formerly demonstrator of anatomy, New York Medical College; Dr. Frank P. Miller of New York; Dr. Job Corbin, medical director, United States Navy, Brooklyn; Dr. J. B. Elliot, professor of the theory and practice of medicine, Tulane University, New Orleans; Professor Metz, State Chemist of Louisiana; Dr. Wm. E. Brickell of New Orleans, and a host of other physicians.

There is no record of any testimony so strong and positive in its nature having ever been given under oath by any physicians in the history of medicine.

It is impossible to ignore the fact that this testimony is that of honorable, dignified, and eminent members of the medical profession. To ignore it is to deny the truth, a dangerous thing to do.

THE sick man knocking at the door of health gets in if he knocks the right way, and stays out if he doesn't. There are thousand of ways of getting sick. There is only one way to get well. Do whatever you will, if you do not put your digestion in good order, and make your blood rich and pure, you will not get well. Rich, pure blood is the only thing that can bring perfect health. A large part of all the diseases that afflict mankind are traceable directly to impurities in the blood, and can be cured by eliminating these impurities. That most dreadful of all diseases, consumption, is a disease of the blood. The disease shows in the lungs because of some inherited or acquired weakness there. If the blood were always pure and without germs, the disease would never develop and in time weakness itself would be overcome. Germs and impurities in the blood float along through the body until they find a weak spot for lodgement. They stick there and develop and people call the disease by the name of the organ afflicted. As a matter of fact, the disease is always a disease of the blood, and if the blood be purified, the disease will be cured. That is a perfectly natural, rational conclusion, endorsed both by common sense and the highest medical authority. It is in accordance with these facts that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery works. The first thing it does is to put the whole digestive system into perfect order. It stimulates the appetite, excites the copious secretion of the digestive fluids and promotes assimilation. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be, kills them and forces them out of the system. The "Golden Medical Discovery" has been used with unvarying success for over 30 years.

If you care to know more about it, and more about your own body, send 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and you will receive absolutely free a copy of Dr. Pierce's 1008 page book, Common Sense Medical Adviser. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

The easiest cleaning is with Pearline. Yes, easiest for everybody. Whether you're doing the hard work of house-cleaning yourself, or having it done, get Pearline and get through with it. It'll do more work, better work, quicker work, than anything else.

You ought to look out for the wear and tear in house-cleaning as well as in washing. Some of your delicate things won't stand much rubbing. They're meant, especially, to be cleaned with Pearline.

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 482 JAMES PYLE, New York.

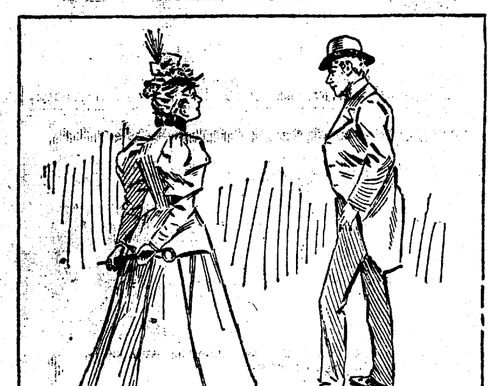
THE REVISED EDITION.

Two souls with but a single thought,
Two hearts that beat at one. (A. M.)

WOMAN EXCLUDED.



Samson—I intend to lead a peaceful life.
Damson—Why don't you get married?
Samson—I said a peaceful life.

"THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE

IS HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE."

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths, the Plain Facts, the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life, Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls, Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood, and How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, &c.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, &c.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday, and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me then I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cart load of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

NICKEL PLATE WASHOUT

Small Bridge Swept Away at Claypool.

A Bicycle Plant Wants to Locate Here —Mr. Woods' New Car— Local Gossip.

The storm which visited this city last evening raged furiously in Whitley and Kosciusko counties and did much damage to roads and crops. Near Claypool, a station on the Nickel Plate, about forty miles west of Fort Wayne, all the streams were overflown and several washouts occurred. A Nickel Plate bridge was carried away and trains on that line made the circuit of Plymouth and Columbia City to get around the washout, using the Vandalia, the Pittsburg and the Eel River roads. There were four trains sent around this way, two of them being Nos 1 and 2, the fast passengers. The other two were through freight trains.

A BICYCLE PLANT WANTS A NEW HOME.

M. W. Fay is in receipt of a definite proposition from a bicycle manufacturing firm which is now located in the west and which desires a location in this city. One of the men was here some months ago and is greatly pleased with Fort Wayne. He says the firm will move the plant here at once and immediately give employment to 100 skilled workmen if the city will give them free fuel and free rent of a suitable building for two years. Mr. Fay estimates that this can be done for about $4,000 and he is now out with a subscription paper to raise the required amount. He has secured $1,000 already and hopes to raise the balance today. The bicycle manufactured by the concern is a leading one and is known in this city, there being several in use here.

ALTOONA'S CENTENNIAL

Altoona, on the Pennsylvania road, is to have a centennial anniversary next month, in which the railroads will be prominently represented. It is expected that the procession will be one of the largest in many years in that part of the state. Among the many Pennsylvania officials, whose lives are identified with the history of Blair county and whose attendance is expected, are Robert Pitcairn, A. J. Cassatt, W. A. Patton, Max Reibenack, Samuel Rea, Theodore W. Ely, John W. Renner, William H. Brown, R. L. Holliday and D H. Lovell. George W. Strattan, master mechanic Altoona shops, and John P. Levan, general foreman of car shops, have been invited to have the different foremen, assistants and employes in their respective departments, machine and car shops, in line. The Tyrone and Altoona Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will be represented in the procession.

MINOR NOTES.

J. E. N. Dillon, of the Pennsylvania offices, went to Chicago this morning.

Charles Agster, of the electric works, had a finger lacerated in a lathe yesterday.

The presidents of the several Vanderbilt lines are holding a conference in New York today.

F. H. Crawford has been transferred from the winding room of the electric works to the laboratory.

Machinist Bob Taylor has recovered from his recent illness and is again working in the Bass shops.

Nickel Plate Brakeman Geo. Driver, who had been enjoying a brief vacation, resumed his duties yesterday.

Stenographer T. J. Kucher, of Supt. C. D. Law's office, resumed his duties this morning, after a brief illness.

Jacob Hilgeman, who has been east in the interest of the electric works for eight months, came home last night.

George Hess and his bride have returned from their wedding tour and he is again on duty at the electric works.

Fred Keifhaber, of the electric works, who had a finger injured some time ago, resumed his duties in the shop this morning.

The water mains on Wallace street are clogged and the residents of the east end of the street were without water today.

Storekeeper Enoch Cox, of the Pittsburg, will deliver the memorial address for the Odd Fellows at Rockfield, Ind., next Sunday.

Joseph Deahl, the genial caller at the Nickel Plate yard office, was a participant in a picnic out in the country yesterday.

Another excursion to Rome City was booked yesterday. It is that of the Ladies' society of Bethany church, which will take place June 22.

Anton Dirkis, of the electric works, had the tip of the index finger on his left hand torn off this morning by getting it into a punching machine.

President Depew, of the New York Central, says the prospects for the lines still outside the Joint Traffic association becoming members are exceedingly bright.

H. Overhalser, A. B. Van Meter, J. E. Allen and W. L. Hunt, all Nickel Plate brakemen, are taking a lay off. Hunt has gone to Bellevue to look after some business.

Frank Huxley, M. Cain, George Moore and Frank Murphy, Nickel Plate engineers, have been on the absentee list for two or three days. Mr. Huxley is sick.

The car wheel department of the Bass works was closed today on account of the funeral of Mrs. Cupp, whose husband works in that shop. The men attended the funeral.

One of the new class L engines on the Pennsylvania last Thursday hauled the limited express of eight cars from Leahman's Place to Altoona, 132 miles, in two hours and forty minutes.

In southern California crude oil is cheap, while coal is very dear. As a result of this unnatural state of affairs the railways of that country are preparing to use oil for fuel on their locomotives.

Official notice is given of the appointment of J. Hatchway as general auditor of the Lima Northern; A. C. Brainard, as assistant general freight agent, and F. E Fisher as assistant general passenger agent.

Harry Rheins is favorably considered for the position of joint agent of the Big Four, Toledo and Ohio Central and Lake Shore in Detroit. He was formerly agent of the Chicago, Hamilton and Dayton in Indianapolis.

Within the last two weeks a division of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen has been organized at Pittsburg and Harrisburg, and of the membership a considerable percentage are in the employ of the Pennsylvania lines.

The fire at Mansfield, Ohio, which is noted in our telegraphic columns, was responsible for the delay to several of the Pitteburg trains. No. 15 was held at that point two hours and forty five minutes and No. 5 was held an hour.

Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, president of the Grand Trunk, and General Manager Hays have just completed an inspection of the property. One result of the trip is that some important improvements have been decided on at Portland, Me.

No. 505, Vice President Joseph Wood's private car, passed through this city, a part of the limited, this morning. Mr. Woods was in the car. This is undoubtedly the finest car west of Pittsburg. It was built at the Columbus, Ohio, shops.

R. J. Fisher spent the day in Huntington, looking after the interests of the Bass works.

Lightning struck the Wabash machine shop at Andrews last night, knocking off a portion of the cornice.

Master Mechanic C. H. Doebler has gone to Springfield to attend the regular monthly meeting of Wabash master mechanics.

James Hartnett, yard foreman of the Wabash, is at the Wabash hospital at Springfield, Ill., undergoing treatment for sore eyes.

A doorway is being cut into the north wall of the Wabash machine shop to allow an extension of the drive wheel tracks, which are entirely too cramped at times.

W. C. Cherry, a boiler-maker, who was employed for some time in the Wabash shops, has gone to Wellsville, Ohio, to work in the Pennsylvania shops under Foreman Matt Baches.

J. A. Wise, an employe of the Pittsburg shops, had one of his fingers painfully mashed this morning. He was attended to by Dr. G. C. Stemen, who says the injury will not result in the loss of the finger.

The wind last night carried off the roofs of several Pittsburg cars, which were on a siding at Richey, Ohio, a little village near the state line. One of the roofs lodged on the telegraph wires and interfered with communication until it was dislodged.

It is stated that the general freight agents will favor a uniform classification as much as do the railway commissioners, who met in Washington last week, and will readily adopt any uniform classification, even if it be in the nature of an experiment.

A delayed telegram from Pittsburg last night requested the police to arrest a man named E. S. Harley, who was said to be a passenger on train No. 9. The message did not reach the city until the train had come and gone and of course no arrest was made. The man was charged with grand larceny.

The Ohio Falls car works are nearly out of work. A few men are engaged in building five coaches and three baggage cars for the Cincinnati, Jackson and Mackinaw road, but in the freight car department there is little doing. These works built many cars for the Pennsylvania company during the past three years.

Through eastbound freight is being carried around Chicago now as much as possible to save a $2 transfer charge, which the railways consider exorbitant. Freight designed for the Pittsburg is delivered to that line at Hamlet by the Indiana, Illinois and Iowa road, and business designed for the Nickel Plate is turned over by the three I's at Knox.

John E. Carson, the "poet machinist," has resigned a position in the Wabash shops and gone to Montreal to work in the Grand Trunk shops. His departure from our city is regretted by a large circle of friends, including his late shopmates. Mr. Carson has written a number of songs, some of them being very popular. Among the list are 'Papa, You Won't Leave Mamma?" and "Maggie Belle."

W. W. Olmstead and H. F. Schwier, of the Wabash offices, made a phenomenal bicycle run last Sunday, when they made the circuit of New Haven, Goegline, Maysville, Leo and Fort Wayne in three hours and eighteen minutes. The distance covered was exactly forty miles Frank Cummings, of the same office, who has been riding less than a week, started out to make the trip, but turned about and returned when he reached New Haven.

Opening of China to the Missionaries.

No more important event in missionary history has been recorded in a long time than the opening of China to missionaries. Mr. Denby, United States minister to China, has sent the following circular letter to all our consuls in China:

LEGATION OF THE UNITED STATES.
PEKING, China, Feb 6, 1896

To the Consuls of the United States:

GENTLEMEN: I have the honor to inform you that his excellency, M. A. Gerard, minister of France, has recently procured from the Tsung Li-Yamen, by virtue of the French treaty of 1858, an order directing the local authorities in all provinces of the empire to expunge from the various editions and compilations of the Chinese code all claims placing restriction upon the propagation of the Christian religion. You are directed to bring this circular to the attention of the American missions in your consular districts. It gives me pleasure to add that the minister of France is entitled to the gratitude of the Christian world for his action in this important matter.

CHARLES DENBY,
United States Minister.

MORTAL ROW AT A BALL GAME.

Indiana Man Fatally Wounds a Boy and May be Killed.

PETERSBURG, Ind., May 26.—In a row over a game of base ball at Winslow yesterday William Thursman struck a thirteen year old boy named Bowers on the head with a club, fracturing the skull. Thursman then drew his revolver and shot twice at the town marshal before he could be arrested. Thursman was placed in jail here. The Winslow people threaten to take Thursman and hang him if the boy dies. They were only prevented from lynching him by cooler headed citizens.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials. Address, F. J. BEDRIDDEN.

FIFTEEN YEARS OF SUFFERING.

The Doctors Wanted Seven Hundred Dollars to Attempt the Case.

The following is a letter we received a short time ago from Mrs. M. C. Hinkley, 602 North Mississippi St., Indianapolis, Ind.:

Gentlemen:—While suffering intensely from piles, I became interested in your advertisement in one of our daily papers and procured a package of your Pyramid Pile Cure from our druggist. Contrary to my expectations, the relief was instantaneous. I used two boxes of the Pile Cure and one of the Pills and am convinced that they are the only sure cure for piles on the market. I have been a sufferer from piles for fifteen years and have been confined to my bed about one-half of the time, expecting and wishing for death for the pain was so great. I went to the college here and the doctors said my case was a new one to them, the great pain having brought on a large rupture, which they wanted seven hundred dollars to cut out. I was very much afraid that death would result from the blood-poisoning which they said would result from the operation. I feel as though I can't praise the Pyramid Pile Cure and the Pyramid Pills too highly, as I am convinced that they saved my life. Before using your cure I weighed only ninety pounds and now I weigh one hundred and fifty and feel as well as I ever did in my life. You are at liberty to use this testimonial in any manner you may see fit, as I want all sufferers from this terrible disease to know that there has at last been compounded a remedy that will cure piles. MRS. M. C. HINKLEY.

There is no need of the danger, pain and expense of a surgical operation for any form of piles. The Pyramid Pile Cure does the work without pain and is the safest and best. Remember also that the Pyramid Pills are a certain cure for constipation, acting without griping and restoring natural action of the bowels.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents and $1.00, and the Pyramid Pills at 25 cents, or by mail from Pyramid Co., Albion, Mich.

RUSSIA'S RULER.

Coronation of Czar at Moscow.

Nicholas and the Empress Crowned.

Brilliant and Impressive Ceremonies.

The Capitol of All the Russias is the Scene of an Event Which Attracts World Wide Attention.

Moscow, May 26.—His majesty, the Emperor Nicholas Alexandrovitch, autocrat of all the Russians, and her majesty, the Empress Alexandro Feodorovna, were solemly crowned today in the Cathedral of the Asumption, with the utmost ceremony and in accordance with all the religious forms and ancient rites.

At 7 o'clock this morning the ceremonies commenced with a salute of twenty cannons marking the opening of the day, and at the same hour the bells in the Cathedral of the Asumption began ringing Half an hour later the court dignitaries and distinguished persons who were to take part in the imperial cortege began to assemble in the halls of the palace and in the cathedral. The ladies were in court dress and the dignitaries were in full uniform.

The envoys extraordinary, the ambassadors, the ministers plenipotentiary and the charges d'affaires, with their wives, as well as the representatives of the diplomatic corps assembled at the palace of the Kremlin shortly after 8 o'clock and were invited by the masters of the ceremonies to repair to the Cathedral of the Assumption and take the places reserved for them.

A tedeum was celebrated in the cathedral at 8 o'clock in the morning, and after prayers, the clergy in full canonicals assembled in front of the cathedral to receive her majesty, the ex Czarina Marie Feodorovna. The latter, on the conclusion of the tedeum, repaired to the Cathedral of the Assumption, accompanied by the members of the imperial family of the highest rank, with the exception of those who were to take part in the emperor's procession, and by the distinguished guests of their majesties.

The train of the ex-czarina was carried by four court chamberlains and the imperial mantle was held up by two court officials on each side, the train of the mantle being carried by a grand dignitary of the imperial court. From the last step of the Krasnoe Kryltzo up to the cathedral entrance eight court dignitaries of the third class carried the canopy beneath which the ex-empress walked, and the golden cords of the canopy, a most gorgeous construction, were carried by eight court dignitaries of the third class.

In front of the Cathedral of the Asumption her majesty was received by the Metropolitan of Moscow, who presented her with the cross and holy water. Her majesty then received the benediction of the clergy and was escorted to her seat on the throne of the Czar Alexis Milkhalovitch, which had been placed on a special estrade for the occasion and surmounted by a beautiful canopy.

Their imperial highnesses, the grand duchesses and grand dukes, and the august guests of their majesties, took the places set aside for them, and the grand master of the ceremonies of the imperial court stationed himself to the right of the estrade. The members of the military households of the imperial grand dukes and of the foreign princesses were afterwards escorted to their places by masters of the ceremonies.

So soon as the procession of her majesty, the ex-czarina, had started for the Cathedral of the Asumption, the high court dignitaries who had assembled at the palace, received the imperial insigna in the throne hall and took up the stations allotted to them in the escort of the emperor. Before the procession started, the grand almoner of their majesties, carrying a large golden cross studded with jewels, and assisted by two deacons carrying a golden bowl full of holy water, sprinkled the whole route which was to be followed by their majesties from the palace to the Cathedral of the Asumption.

The ex Empress Marie Feodorovna's departure for the Cathedral of the Assumption having been announced, the czar and czarina made their entrance in to throne hall and seated themselves on their thrones on which was a magnificent canopy. A moment later, a signal announced that the time had arrived for the departure of the imperial coretge, and the latter moved towards the cathedral. The grand procession was headed by the Chevalier guards of the ex-Empress Marie Feodorovna and was a long and brilliant one, interspersed throughout were military officers and soldiers, whose brilliant uniforms made the cathedral reapplendent.

At the moment the imperial cortege appeared on leaving the palace the bells in all the churches of Moscow were rung and troops, in parade order, presented arms and rendered all military honors to the imperial party.

As their majesties approached the entrance of the cathedral the metropolitan of Moscow pronounced the usual allocution, the metropolitan of St. Petersburg presented the cross to their majesties, and the metropolitan of Keiff presented them with holy water. Entering the cathedral their majesties bowed to the knees three times before a holy door and venerated the saintly images. They afterwards moved towards the estrade and took their seats on the thrones of the Czars Michael Feodorovitch and John III.

The bishops, archbishops, and the officiating clergy placed themselves in two ranks between the entrance of the throne and the holy door, and the chorus chanted the psalm "Misericordian Et Judican Cantabo Tibi Domine." The dignitaries carrying the imperial mantles stationed themselves on the first step of the throne. A dignitary holding the sword of the empire, stood on the second step of the throne, while the bearer of the standard occupied a position on the third step. Other auxilliaries to the pageant were grouped about in suitable order.

The ceremony of the coronation and annointment was then accomplished as follows: The metropolitan of St. Petersburg mounted the steps of the throne, placed his front to the emperor and invited his majesty to make, before his faithful subjects and in a loud voice, his profession of orthodox faith, and presented him with the open book from which the emperor recited the symbol of the faith. After this the metropolitan of St. Petersburg pronounced the ritual: "Gratia spiritus sancti sit semper tecum. Amen."

The metropolitan then left the estrade and after the reading of the holy gospel the metropolitans of St. Petersburg and of Kieff mounted the steps to the throne. The emperor arose, and taking off the collar of the Order of St. Andrew, ordered that the imperial mantle with the collar, in diamonds, of that order, be presented to him. They were presented on cushions by the metropolitans of St. Petersburg and Kieff, who also assisted his majesty to put on the mantel. The metropolitan of St. Petersburg then pronounced the words: "In nomine patris et filiiet spiritus sancti. Amen."

One of the assistants of his majesty adjusted the imperial mantle. His majesty received the pontificial benediction of the metropolitan of St. Petersburg, who placed his hands on the czar's head in the form of a cross, reciting the two prayers prescribed by the ritual. The prayers terminated, the emperor ordered that the imperial crown be presented to him. Thereupon the metropolitan of St Petersburg took the imperial crown and handed it to the emperor, who took it in his hands and placed it on his head. The metropolitan then, in a loud voice, pronounced the prescribed allocution.

In a similar manner his majesty caused to be presented to him the sceptre and the globe, and having taken the sceptre in his right hand and the globe in the left, he seated himself upon the throne. A few moments later his majesty arose and placed the sceptre and globe upon cushions.

The monarch then called upon her majesty, the Empress Alexandria Feodorovna, to approach, and she knelt before him an a velvet cushion richly embroidered with gold. His majesty thereupon solemnly lifted the crown from his own head and touched with it the forehead of the empress. He then replaced the crown upon his own head. His majesty afterwards took up the crown of the empress and placed it on the head of her majesty. Her majesty's imperial mantle and the collar of the Order of St. Andrew was next presented with the same ceremony. This done, her majesty took her seat on the throne while the emperor again took the sceptre in his right hand and the globe in his left.

The archdeacon next proclaimed the imperial title in extenso and intoned the verses "Domine, Salvum Fac Imperatorem" and "Domine, Salvan Fac Imperaltecum," followed by the "Ad Multos Annos," which the choir repeated three times. After the chanting the bells of the cathedral and of all the other sacred edifices throughout Moscow were rung and a salute of 101 cannon shots was fired.

The emperor then arose, handed the sceptre and the sceptre and the globe to the attendants and knelt down to recite, from the book presented to him by the metropolitan of St. Petersburg, the prayer prescribed for the occasion. The prayer terminated, the metropolitan and all present knelt and in the name of the nation, offered up prayers to the Almighty. After the prayer the metropolitan of St. Petersburg addressed a short allocution to the emperor and the choir entoned the tedeum to the sound of the bells of all the churches of the Kremlin. During this ceremony the czar stood with bared head. The reading of the Holy Gospel followed, and two archbishops presented the Holy book to their majesties to kiss.

The anthem terminated and the officiating clergy having been notified that the holy door was open, two archbishops, assisted by arch deacons, advanced from the altar towards his majesty to announce to the latter that the holy ceremony of the annointment was to begin. Thereupon his majesty, having handed his sword to one of his august assistants, descended from the throne, and, preceded by the sceptre, the globe, and the crown, went towards the holy door, followed by the Empress Alexandria Feodoroua

On both sides of his majesty were his assistants, the minister of the imperial household, the minister of war, the aide de camps, etc. Approaching the holy door, the emperor and empress stood upon the golden cloth. The attendants grouped themselves on either side and behind their majesties. The metropolitan of St. Petersburg, bearing the precious amphora with the holy chrism, dipped it in the golden bowl prepared for the purpose and anointed the forehead, eyelids, nostrils, ears, chest and hands of the emperor, pronouncing the words: "Imressio doni spiritus sancti." The ringing of bells, and firing of a salute of 101 guns, notified the populace of the conclusion of this ceremony.

After the holy unction, his majesty placed himself on the right, in front of the image of the Savior, and the empress approached the holy door, where the metropolitan of St. Petersburg anointed her on the forehead, pronouncing the words of the ritual.

The metropolitan of St. Petersburg afterwards introduced the emperor into the sanctuary of the holy door, the other prelates officiating, holding up the imperial mantle from the moment he passed the door.

Subsequently the emperor received the holy communion, as it is administered to priests—that is, separately—by virtue of his soverignty.

Leaving the sanctuary his majesty again took up his place before the image of the Saviour, while the empress received holy communion according to the usual rite. Their majesties returned to their thrones, where the post communion ceremonies were performed, and at the end of the mass the archdeacon intoned the verses: "Domine, salvum fac imperiatorium," and "Domine, salvum fac imperiatricem." The choir repeated three times, "Ad multos annos." At the end of the service the clergy presented the cross to their majesties for them to kiss The emperor replaced the crown on his head, again took the sceptre and the globe in his hands and the clergy and all the persons present presented their felicitations upon the conclusion of the ceremonies of the coronation and the annointment.

The procession then moved back to the palace in the same order and with the same ceremony as upon the occasion of leaving it, preceded by the cortege of the ex-empress, Marie Feodorovna. After leaving the Cathedral of the Asumption, the emperor and empress repaired to the Cathedral of the Archangel Michael, where they were received by the bishop of Kostroma, who presented them with the cross and holy water and preceded them into the cathedral.

Upon entering the sacred edifice his majesty placed his crown, sceptre and globe in the hands of attendants, their majestics knelt and prayed before the holy images, relics and tombs of their ancestors and the archdeacon read the litanies. Upon resuming the crown, sceptre and globe the emperor proceeded in state with the empress to the Cathedral of the Annunciation, where they were received by the archbishop of Khorson and the clergy. There also his majesty took off the crown and placed the sceptre and globe in the hands of those charged to receive them and the usual religious ceremonies followed.

From the Cathedral of the Annunciation their majesties went to the palace and at the Krasnoe Kryltzo received the benediction of the metropolitan of St. Petersburg. Entering the throne hall of the palace his majesty gave the sceptre and globe into the hands of their keepers and he and the empress, wearing their crowns and imperial mantles, retired to their private apartments. At the banquet which followed at the Granovitai Palata the utmost state was observed, the imperial grand dukes and grand duchesses and august foreign princes and the leading members of their suites were in attendance with the holy synod, the high clergy and others. But only persons of the highest importance were present at the imperial banquet, the other guests being entertained, according to their rank.

DALLAS F. GREEN.

STREWN WITH DEAD

Terrific Cyclone in Michigan.

Death Roll Runs Into the Hundreds.

Villages of Yesterday Are Ruins Today.

Terrible Ruin Wrought by the Winds in the Path Over Which It Swept.

OXFORD, Mich., May 26.—A terrible cyclone struck the village of Oakwood last evening and entirely wiped it off the earth, destroying all the buildings and leaving death and destruction in its trail.

From reports that continue to come in from adjacent points the full force of the fierce wind that swept this part of Oakland county is beginning to be appreciated. Everywhere is devastation. Villages that were yesterday the homes of contented citizens are today desolate sites, and maimed and bruised fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters mourn for those who met death in the twisting, grinding, resistless wind.

The death roll in this vicinity may run to the hundred mark, for many homes that were on the edge of the cyclone suffered from its fury.

At Oakwood, a hamlet five miles north of Oxford, having a population of about 200, not a house is left standing. The two churches are flattened to the earth. The path of the storm was between a half and three-fourths of a mile wide and it extended in a nearly straight course eastward for over a distance of thirty miles. A remarkable circumstance is that the buildings in close proximity to each other were blown in opposite directions, some being swept northward and others southward.

THE DEAD.

The following are known to have been killed in this county:

Near Ortonville—W. J. Mitchell, wife, and two children, Mrs. Henry Quick, John Wilkins, John Porritt, Mrs. Joseph Porritt, John Milkey, T. E Gleason, Mrs. T. D. Eaton, Abe Kitchell, Mrs. Wm. Kitchen, Edwin Fifield, two children of Mr. Howe.

At Oakwood—Mrs. Susan Stewart, Mrs. E A. Wolverton, Mrs Wm. Davison and daughter, Ida, Ed. Fifield, child of Alfred Fifield. Ed Howe is fatally injured.

At Thomas—Charles Hicks and son.

Reported dead at North Oxford—Mrs. Oscar Slate, Thomas Bishop, a farm laborer, name unknown; Joseph Smiley and son.

Injured—Frank Laidlaw, wife and child; Mrs. Laidlaw was seriously hurt.

THE INJURED

At Thomas—Mrs C. A. Hicks, frightfully crushed; Mrs. Sid Copeman, will not live; Elvory Hicks, badly crushed; T. P. Knapp, head badly bruised; William Althouse, internal injuries; Geo. Hibler, both legs broken; William Carr, fearfully bruised, injured internally; Charles Bradley, injured about the head; A. M. Kidder, arm badly shattered.

At Oakwood—Al. Fifield, both legs broken, daughter, Jessie, badly injured; Harvey Francis, internal injuries, cannot live; Myron Johnson, leg broken; Mrs. E. A. Howe and one or two children.

Near Ortonville, between twenty and twenty-five were more or less seriously injured.

CUT A WIDE SWATHE.

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., May 26.—Last night's cyclone left a track five hundred and fifty feet wide through the southeastern part of town, which looks as though a reaper with a gigantic scythe had been endeavoring to mow a harvest. Fortunately nearly everybody was in such positions as to avoid fatalities. No one was killed outright and none of the injured have died.

The injured are: Mrs. Anna Pohl, widow, back broken, injured internally, breast crushed in; will not live; Henry Pohl, aged fourteen, hip broken; injured internally; Adolph Pohl, aged twelve, right leg broken, bruised about shoulders and body; Willie Pohl, aged ten, injured internally, right leg broken, left shoulder dislocated, recovery doubtful; Mrs Joseph Harden, injured internally, cut about the head and arms; Russell Carter, head and face cut; Mrs. Russell Carter, injured internally, breast and shoulders bruised; Baby Carter, head badly cut; Gustave Cutche, cut on head and right arm broken; Mrs Wm. Ormsby, left arm broken and badly cut on face; Miss Anna Belle Leabo, left arm broken, right arm injured, skull fractured.

The family of Ferdinand Heckman miraculously escaped. They had barely gotten into the cellar when their house was blown out of existence. Fred La Forge and wife had just gone to a relative's house when their home was destroyed. The roof and sides of the largest of the Charbeneau icehouses were blown off, leaving the mass of ice standing.

THIRTEEN PERSONS DROWNED.

CAIRO, Ill., May 26.—The storm struck this locality at 8:30 a. m. There was a terrific wind and rain. The opera house and union depot were unroofed, numbers of trees destroyed, and signs blown down, but no houses were destroyed nor lives lost in the city. The ferry boat Katherine was capsized at the mouth of the Ohio, drowning all on board but the captain, engineer and clerk. As near as can be learned, the dead number thirteen, among them Captain Rittenhouse, superintendent of the Ferry company, Dr. Orr's two daughters, and Richard Thurman, O. F. Wickliff and Chas G. Hofer, a merchant of this city. Only three bodies, those of Thurman, Miss Orr and a deck hand, have been recovered. A tug is searching for the others Business in the city is practically at a standstill.

LATEST FROM M'GREGOR.

MILWAUKEE, Wis, May 26.—Later reports from North McGregor, Iowa, relative to the havoc caused by the storm and flood on Sunday night, shows that the destruction of the interests of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road at that point, as well as of the little town are about complete. The total damage to the property of the company is now estimated at $125,000. The loss of life will probably be found to be nearer to twenty than ten. Of thirteen persons known to be missing the bodies of six have been recovered. The water is receding very slowly. But little in the way of the search for bodies or the recovery of property has yet been done. It will be at least ten days before the St. Paul railway can resume operations on its line west from McGregor.

HOME MISSIONS

Occupies the Assembly's Attention This Morning.

The Report Shows a Satisfactory Condition of the Finances—The Proceedings.

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 26.—The opening of the Presbyterian general assembly session today was characterized by a struggle over the approval of the records. These showed that resolutions in regard to the Presbyterian house in New York were referred to the finance committee and made an exclusive order for this morning. Elder McDougall contended that the record was wrong. All the clerks united in maintaining its correctness and the latter view prevailed. The order was subject to an understanding that in case the resolutions called for serious discussion that they should go over. Elder McDougall moved that they be referred to the joint committees on home and foreign missions and that their report be made a special order for Thursday afternoon. The assembly gave unanimous consent to this course. The committee on bills and overtures reported papers from the Presbyteries of New York and Long Island, stating their intention to exercise their constitutional rights in the reception and license of theological students. These papers were called forth by the injunction placed on the Presbyterians of New York a year ago against receiving the students of the Union seminary. The papers were referred to the judicial committee.

The regular order was then taken up, being the report on home missions. The present debt was almost $300,000. receipts amounted to $729 133 and expenditures reached $858 985. From the reunion fund the receipts reached $191,230. The cost of administration aggregated $81 922 Under the board is a total of 1 544 ministers, 1 836 churches and a membership of 100 000. During the year 9,179 new members have been added. The report of the committee made recommendations as to the methods of administration and provided for a committee of nine to investigate the affairs of the board in order to secure improved efficiency and any possible retrenchment.

CONFERENCE WORK.

The Morning Session Occupied With Committee Reports.

The Conference Then Gets Into a Discussion Over a Night Session.

CLEVELAND Ohio, May 26—The M. E conference opened promptly on time today, with Bishop W. X. Ninde in the chair. Robert Forbes conducted the devotional exercises, and after several minor reports had been received the book committee made its report. The chief item of interest in the report was the creation of the Voice book editor. At present Editor Kelly, of New York, and Editor Moore, of Cincinnati act in this capacity, but the committee decided that the work should be taken out of their hands and placed in the hands of one man. The conference did not take kindly to the proposition and for an hour it was discussed pro and con. George C. Sturgiss made the report for the book committee and defended it against the objections of the opposition. After the reading of the book committee's report Dr. Lanahan arose and opposed it by saying that he thought a careful examination of the records will show that the conference had about one officer for every eleven or twelve delegates. He was followed by W. V. Kelly, editor of the Methodist Review, and book editor, who also spoke against it, saying that he did not think the time had come for such an editor as book editor. Geo C. Sturgiss, chairman of the book committee, next replied to the gentleman after several resolutions had been made to strike out the creation of a book editor. He said it had met with the approval of every one of the book committee and he hoped it would be adopted. A motion to lay on the table was next made, but it being lost, Dr. Miller took the floor, while another delegate tried to move the previous question and proceeded to speak in favor of it.

After extended debate the report was adopted. The conference spent the next half hour debating whether or not a session should be held this evening in spite of the temperance anniversary. Frequent flights of oratory and a parliamentary tangle was the result and then a recess was taken without anything definite being decided.

When the conference again convened the special order, the consecration of the three newly elected bishops, was taken up Bishop Bowman presided and brought up the rear of the line of bishops, elders and candidates. He announced the singing of the hymn "Heralds of the Cross," and after the vast audience had sung the hymn through, still standing, Bishop Vincent read the collect as follows:

"Almighty God, who, by Thy son Jesus Christ didst give to Thy holy apostles, elders and evangelists many excellent gifts, and didst charge them to feed Thy flock; give grace, we beseech Thee, to all the ministers and pastors of Thy church that they may diligently preach Thy word and duly administer the godly discipline thereof; and grant to the people that they may obediently follow the same, that all may receive the crown of everlasting glory through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen."

The epistle from Acts XX, 17 35, by Bishop Thoburn, followed. The Gospel was recited by Bishop Taylor. It was the Gospel of St. John, chapter xxi, 15 17.

Subsequent to this came the actual ceremony of consecration, the most important feature of the entire conference. The candidates were presented before the assembled multitude by the elders. They are: Charles Cardwell McCabe, by Rev. L. D McCabe, D. D., and Rev. T. C. Iliff, D. D; Earl Cranston, by Rev. D. L Parker and Rev. S. Rust, D. D., and Joseph Hartzell by Rev. M. C. B. Mason, D. D, and Rev. Samuel L. Beidler, Ph. D. Prayer was by Bishop Ninde and prayer was offered by Bishop Fitzgerald. A very imposing service was the formal examination of the candidates and invocation of divine grace upon the event by Bishop Andrews.

After prayer by Bishop Fowler came the important movement of the laying on of hands and presentation of the Bible indicative to consecration as bishop of Christ's chosen flock of pastors. The meeting was brought to a conclusion with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Foster.

WORKS BURNED.

Aultman and Taylor Suffer a Heavy Loss.

A Portion of Their Immense Factory Destroyed—Eighteen Horses Cremated.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, May 26—Lightning struck the warehouse of Aultman & Taylor at 12 o'clock last night and immediately started a fire, which for awhile threatened the entire plant As it was the warehouse, which contained 400 separators and a large number of horse power machines, the entire season's supply, is a total loss. The paint shop and dry houses were also destroyed. The blacksmith shop, moulding shop and carpenter shop were saved. The loss is estimated at about $300,000 and is fully covered by insurance A livery stable near by also took fire and was destroyed and eighteen horses perished in the flames The trains on the Pittsburg tracks, near which the burned works were located, were detained from one to three hours by the intense heat of the fire.

CRUELTY TO A DOG.

Fined $5 and Costs in a Justice Court.

Divorced Parties Marry Again — Maccabee Case — Brent Tolan's Contract and Bond.

Justice France fined Charles Lincoln $5 and costs for cruelty to animals The complaint alleged that the defendant had taken the young dog of Alphonse Havert and thrown it over his fence, thereby breaking the leg of the animal

N. G. Hunter, of Wabash, grand chancellor of the Knights of the Maccabees, is arguing a demurrer in the superior court to the complaint in the case of John Anderson against the Maccabee order. The defense has not yet filed an answer in the case.

Christian Schwartz and Magdeline Schwartz have been given a license to wed The parties were recently divorced and now desire to live together again.

The contract for the employment of B. S. Tolan as architect for the new court house was today finally completed between the county commissioners and Mr. Tolan. The latter furnishes a bond of $50,000 for the faithful performance of his duty. It is signed by R. L. Romy, Frank J. Gruber, John W. White and L. J. Bobilya. Mr. Tolan is given for his services 5 per cent of the actual cost of the building, 2½ per cent. of which is given him when the contract is awarded. If the building costs $400 000, the pay of Mr. Tolan would be $20,000.

MYSTERIOUS CASE.

Harry Beyerle's Throat Cut From Ear to Ear.

Says He Fell Down Stairs on a Beer Bottle—Looks Like Attempted Suicide.

Harry Beyerle, a young man who has been employed in Brames' bottling works, cut his throat night before last, but whether or not it was with suicidal intent is just now unknown.

Beyerle boards with Mrs. Moran, at No 435 South Hanna street. He was found in his room with a frightful gash in his throat, extending almost from one ear to the other. When Dr. McCausland arrived a half hour later Beyerle had bled almost to death. The wound was closed up and Dr. McCausland says today that the young man will get well.

The general impression has been that Beyerle tried to kill himself with a razor and failed. The only explanation he gives himself is that he started to walk down stairs and fell upon a beer bottle, which broke and cut his throat. There is considerable of the mysterious about the case and it seems that there is a preconcerted effort to keep the truth away from the newspapers. It appears doubtful that such a gash could be cut in such a manner by a fall upon a piece of glass.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Board of Public Safety Will Attend to It.

Tour of All the Engine Houses Is to be Made Tomorrow Afternoon.

The board of public safety now intends to pay a little attention to the fire department Thus far the board has been attending to the police department. A few changes have already been made in the force and a few more will be made.

There are about forty applications in for positions on the fire force. The board will go out tomorrow afternoon and make a tour of all the engine houses for the purpose of seeing just how everything stands.

A meeting of the board will be had tomorrow night and whether or not any heads will be chopped off among the firemen remains to be seen.

FREE SILVER WING

Holding a Meeting at Indianapolis, Ind.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 26.—Prominent representatives of the free silver wing of the democratic party are holding a meeting this afternoon at the Grand hotel and are discussing the plan of operation which will be pursued until the meeting of the state convention, June 24 Although it is yet one month until the convention meets, the free silver wing is confident of controlling not only the platform, but the ticket, and the meeting today is to make final arrangements The meeting was called one week ago when the executive committee met here, the idea being to perfect arrangements for capturing the delegates and through them the committees. The free silver people expect to control the committees on rules, organization, credentials and platform and will discuss names for these committees They will also discuss the candidate for governor. Although Mr Shively is in the lead and if the convention were held now he would receive nearly the entire support of this wing of the party, yet the friends of Mr. Shanklin have been again agitating his nomination and the wing desires to act in unison A candidate will probably be decided upon.

George A. Garlow and Senia Bernhardt, Frank J. Martin and Lizzie E Long, Frank W. Snelzer and Julia Krienbrink have been licensed to wed

OVER A WOMAN.

Two Men Had a Fight on Berry Street.

They Were All Arrested by Officer Hines—A Sensational Case Developed.

Officer Hines gathered in a trio this morning on East Berry street who had quite a tale to tell in police court. They were two men and a woman.

Hines saw two men fighting on the corner by the city hall. He stopped the racket and demanded an explanation. One man said the other fellow had been with his wife. The other fellow said he met the woman on the street and she told him that her "man" had been abusing her. He said he was assisting her to find another boarding house. Hines took all three to the police station.

A little questioning brought out all the facts in the case. The woman's name is Jennie Piper. For three months she has been living with a man named William McClellan as his wife, at No. 103 West Main street. Last night the woman went out upon the street and picked up a traveling man whose name in police court was Charles D. Smith, but whose right name is something else. She claims that McClellan compelled her to do this. At first McClellan claimed the woman was his wife, but this she denied.

All three were charged with adultery. Smith plead guilty and paid his fine of $10 50 and departed with a smile.

McClellan also plead guilty. He claimed to Mayor Scherer that he wanted to marry the woman, and that he intended to do so just as soon as she could get a divorce from her husband, who is now in Canada. He professed the most intense love for her and said he could not live without her. He said he had a divorced wife in Canada. McClellan was fined $10 50.

Mrs. Piper did not say anything about sharing in the love business. She plead guilty to the charge and Mayor Scherer fined her the same as the rest. She told the mayor she would get out of the city if he would give her a chance. The mayor, therefore, suspended sentence long enough to let her get away. After she left the court room McClellan tried to induce Mayor Scherer to cut the price on the fine. He said he only had five dollars and that he did not want to go to jail. The mayor refused to reduce the amount and McClellan started to jail. Before he got out of the police station, however, he produced a roll of bills as large as a man's fist and paid his fine to Officer Hines.

This squared the entire matter and McClellan started out to find the woman again. Whether they will both leave town or not is still a question. They came here together from Canada about eight months ago and have been here ever since.

BOARD MEETING.

Routine Business Transacted Last Night.

Contract Let for Setting Drinking Fountains—West Fifth Street to be Improved.

At the meeting of the board of public works last night the contract for setting the new drinking fountains in various parts of the city was let to Elmer Martin, the south side plumber.

The contract for furnishing lumber for the city during the ensuing year was let to Kilian Baker, at $15.40 per 1,000 feet.

The board fixed the salary of the day man at the crematory at $45 per month and of the night man at $40 per month. The pay of the acting city scavenger was placed at $12 per month.

Councilman School complained of a low sidewalk on East DeWald street, and Attorney J. B. Harper made a similar complaint about one on Barr street, near Washington.

The engineer was instructed to prepare plans for the grading and laying sidewalks on both sides of West Fifth street from Wells street to Barthold avenue.

The clerk was instructed to order six copies of the new city directory.

Several of the residents of West Berry street, petitioned the board to have removed two large trees which recently fell into St. Mary's river at the outlet of the two sewers between Rockhill and Nelson streets. The board, upon consideration, found that the ground adjacent belonged to John M Miller, and instructed the clerk to notify Mr. Miller to remove the trees.

MR. W. F. REITZE.

A. O. U. W. Friends Present Him With a Past Master Workman's Jewel.

Wm F. Reitze, the teller of the Old National bank, was treated to a pleasant surprise last Saturday evening at the home of Dr. J. W. Younge, in South Wayne, by a number of his friends of A O. U. W. lodge No. 19, who presented him with a past master workman's jewel in honor of the long service he had given that organization in the office of receiver. The affair was arranged so that he was ignorant of the object of the gathering until Dr. Younge, with a speech which was appropriate to the occasion, stepped forward and in the name of his friends presented him with the handsome jewel Mr Reitze was taken completely unawares, but he thanked his donors as best he could and he did it gracefully. Elegant refreshments were then served the thirty five ladies and gentlemen present by Mrs. Younge, and the balance of the evening was spent with music and other social amusements.

AGAIN the relentless cyclone brings death and destruction—this time in Michigan.

LEGISLATIVE honors are being sought quite extensively this year. There are several candidates from this county for the democratic nominations.

THE democrats of Montgomery county met in convention at Crawfordsville last Saturday and adopted resolutions favoring Governor Matthews for president, and Senator James M. Sellers for governor.

THE famous city of Moscow has been the scene of many royal fetes during the past week or two, but the coronation ceremony to-day is the crowning event.

IT looks as if John Clark Ridpath, of Greencastle, the historian, will be nominated for congress by the democrats of the Fifth Indiana district. He has indicated that he will not decline the nomination.

THERE is talk of the president's dissolving congress if it does not adjourn pretty soon, a prerogative which it seems he has the right to exercise, although no president has ever done it. But we live in a progressive age and a great many things are done nowadays that our forefathers would not have done.

NEXT Monday the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette and Tribune will consolidate. Negotiations have been progressing for weeks, but the announcement was not made until yesterday. The paper will be called the Commercial Tribune and will probably be issued from the Commercial-Gazette plant.

THE crop prospects among the cereal producing nations of the world are not encouraging, and so far as reports have been published everything looks favorable to better prices. This will prove welcome intelligence to farmers of this country who have been supplying foreign markets under limited demands at impoverishingly low prices.

IT is now alleged that the only object of Quay in visiting McKinley was to present himself as a candidate for chairman of the republican national committee to manage McKinley's campaign. Mr. Quay is evidently one of those men who look high to see if there is anything in sight that they want, but take whatever is within reach.

IF John J. Douglas, of Akron, Ohio, shall succeed in getting the prohibition nomination for the presidency, as he says he will, a picturesque element will be added to the campaign. He is a colored man, who has attracted much attention in the west by his vigorous work in favor of prohibition. He is really a mixture of three races—Scotch, Indian and negro—and though he is only a hodcarrier, he believes that he has been chosen by Providence as the standard bearer of the prohibition cause.

PROHIBITIONISTS.

Thousands of Them Gathering at Pittsburg.

The Temperance Question Seems to Have Been Laid Aside for the Present.

PITTSBURG, May 26.—Nearly all the delegates to the national prohibition convention have arrived and thousands of visitors interested in the proceedings have come with them. As each state delegation arrives, the friends of both factions, free silver and gold standard, got after them with arguments of persuasion. Each faction is doing its utmost to proselyte supporters of the other's principles. Each faction claims a majority of the delegates, but from the eagerness of the various leaders to win converts, it is as yet anybody's fight. The first question upon which the opposing wings of the party will test their strength will be the naming of a temporary chairman. He will be chosen at the meeting of the national central committee to be held at the Seventh avenue hotel tonight. Those prominently mentioned for the place are A. A. Stevens, of Tyron, Pa., and Edward J. Wheelock, of New York. The former will be backed by the narrow gauge, or gold standard men, while the latter will carry the free silver standard. The National Intercollegiate Prohibition association, claiming to represent one hundred and fifty colleges of this country, will hold an oratorical contest tonight. There will be ten contestants, each of whom is champion of the state from which he comes.

WILL CLOSE FRIDAY.

All the Glass Factories But One.

Over 5,000 Men Will Then be Idle, Many of Them Citizens of Indiana.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 26.—In harmony with the agreement of the western and southern wings of glass manufacturers' associations, all the factories in the country but one will shut down next Friday, May 29, for an indefinite period. The suspension will last at least three months, perhaps longer, and will affect 5,000 glass workers, comprising blowers, gatherers, cutters, flatteners, day hands and laborers. The one factory that may not close is that of James A. Chambers, at New Kensington, employing 500 men. In June a delegate convention of workers will assemble in this city to discuss the proposed changes in the policy of the association. The convention is expected to be the most important ever held, and the factional quarrels which have been disturbing the affairs of the association are expected to be fought to a sharp finish. A contest with the associated manufacturers over the annual wage scale is looked for. Work in the coal mines along the Monongahela and Youghiogheny rivers has also been generally suspended, on account of low water. Over 6,000 miners are idle.

MADE HOMELESS.

Canadian Town Swept by a Fire.

Catholic Church, Several Stores and Many Residences Are Destroyed.

DESERONTO, Ont., May 26.—Yesterday afternoon fire broke out in the tie dock of the Rathburn company and in a short time spread to the docks adjoining, destroying large quantities of shingles, posts, hardwood, etc., a flour mill, bran house, elevator, and the Canoe club boat house. Going northward and eastward it swept away almost the entire eastern portion of the town. The Roman Catholic church and several stores were consumed. The flames spread so rapidly that many lost all their possessions. About 9 o'clock a terrific down pour of rain helped to extinguish the flames. About seventy-five families are homeless. The loss will aggregate $350,000.

DRINK FOR THIRSTY DOGS.

Humane Physician Furnishes Ice Water for Canine Wayfarers.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—"Ice water for dogs" This is the inscription, neatly lettered, on a sign displayed before a small shallow zinc trough in front of a physician's office in Washington. The trough is painted a sky blue color, and always contains water which passes through a refrigerator. By a floating valve the flow of water is regulated. The dogs are not supposed to read the sign, but they have discovered that the water is for their benefit, and many of them stop daily to drink from the trough.

TURKISH SOLDIERS

Continue Their Brutal Treatment of Christians.

ATHENS, May 26.—Advices received here from the Island of Crete state that the Turkish soldiers at Retimo are continuing their attacks upon the Christians, who have barricaded themselves within their houses at that port. Telegraphic communication with the Island of Crete, excepting messages to and from the foreign consuls there, have been prohibited by the Turkish authorities.

WALLING ON TRIAL.

Jackson's Accomplice Now in the Box.

NEWPORT, Ky., May 26.—The trial of Alonzo Walling for the murder of Pearl Bryan began today before Judge Helm. Attorneys Lockhart and Nelson, the same who appeared in the Scott Jackson case, conduct the prosecution, while Colonel Washington and Attorney Sheppard appear for the defendant. Thirty-two men were examined and six accepted as jurors before the forenoon recess.

STRIKE ORDERED.

Western Miners Carry Out a Threat to Quit Work.

DENVER Col., May 26.—The Western Federation of Miners today ordered a strike in the northwestern Colorado coal fields by which 500 men walked out. The disagreement is over the refusal of the operators to reinstate twenty-two men discharged at the Simpson mine and refusal to adopt the miners' schedule of wages.

FAMILY MURDERED.

Mrs. Martin Frost and Three Children the Victims.

HARRISONVILLE Mo., May 26.—The sheriff was summoned to Cleveland, this county, on a telegram, this morning, stating that the entire family of Martin Frost, consisting of wife and three children, had been murdered. Frost is a prominent farmer.

CRITICALLY ILL.

Col. John S. Mosby, the ex-Confederate Leader.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—Col. John S. Mosby, the ex-confederate soldier, and more recently consul to Hong Kong, is lying critically ill at his home in this city. He is suffering from appendicitis.

D. W. Bittner, the South Calhoun street grocer, is giving double measure to all customers today. This liberality is all due to the hilarious condition of his spirits, brought about by the arrival of a bright little baby girl at his home.

Dr. C. H. Martz is at Indianapolis, where he reads a paper before the state convention of homeopathists, which is in session there. He will return Thursday morning.

Members of the St. Charles Benevolent society will meet Sunday morning at 7 o'clock at the St. Mary's school hall.

AN OPEN LETTER

From Mr. W. H. Jones, of This City, to Hon. W. D. Bynum.

The Cause of the Evils to Our Monetary System Lies Back of the Coinage Question.

The following open letter, written by Mr. Wm. H. Jones, of this city, to Hon. W. D. Bynum, of Indianapolis, is given by Mr. Jones to THE SENTINEL for publication:

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 25, 1896
Hon. W. D. Bynum, Indianapolis:

DEAR SIR:—Your appeal for a general consultation among the leaders of the democratic party at Indianapolis on the 28th inst., on the ratio between gold and silver in the coinage, prompts me to suggest that the cause of the evils which you propose to remedy on so short notice, lies back of the coinage, and is strongly intrenched in the constitution itself. It is this constitutional cause that produces the evils complained of; and I respectfully submit for the calm judgment of yourself and associates, that no amount of counseling among party leaders over the results of it, can be productive of permanent good, until the cause that produces them shall be removed. This constitutional cause and source of the evils complained of in the gold and silver coinage, is found in the provision that allows senate amendments to house bills for raising revenues: thus taking control of the national revenues out of the hands of the people's only immediate representatives in the government, and placing that control, together with that of the national finances that depend upon the revenues, under paramount control of the senate, that owns no shadow of responsibility of any kind, either direct or contingent, immediate or remote, to the people of the United States.

Though it is no part of the present purpose to attempt a full statement of the causes that compelled the framers to put this exclusion of the people from control of their public revenues in the constitution, it seems needful to say that the provision owes its existence in the constitution to the extreme jealousy of the states, lest the separate sovereignty of each should be wiped out, unless the paramount control of all federal legislation—that of the national revenues included—should be lodged in the senate. But for this groundless apprehension, control of the public revenues must have remained in the hands of the immediate representatives of the people, under the federal constitution, just as it had been in the house of commons of the British parliament for hundreds of years before our own constitution was established. (See Blackstone's Commentaries, marginal page 169 of vol. 1)

I am led by these reflections to ask both yourself and associates to frame some satisfactory answer to the following question, viz:

Why is it that under widely differing forms of government, as well as of national conditions, in England, France and Germany, this constant public nuisance of instability and change in the national revenues and the finances that are founded upon them, is practically unknown? I cannot imagine what your answer, or that of the other party leaders to this question may be; but for myself and for the great mass of other common people who do not aspire to party leadership, and who are supposed to be led by your and other leaders' opinions, I dare affirm, that the difference between the people of the United States and those of the other countries named, in respect to the national revenues and finances, is owing to the fact that in all the European countries named, whatever acts for raising the national revenue are passed by the immediate representatives of the people, are not liable to amendment in any other branch or department of the government, but must be accepted or rejected by them as a whole; while, on the contrary, nothing that our representatives can do in respect to bills for raising the national revenues, and thereby sustaining the national finances that are dependent upon them, is of any force or validity at all, until it has passed the muster of every other department of the government. And "that's what the matter" with both the national revenues and the national finances; and that's what will continue to be the matter with both of them, until the constitution shall be so changed as to give to the immediate representatives of the people in congress the same control of revenue bills as is exercised by the representatives of the people in the other countries named.

I must apologize for so imperfect an outline of what I conceive to be needed to give to the people and government of the United States a stable public policy in respect to the national revenues and finances, that shall not be liable to discussion and change on every change of party administration; but what I have written is the best I can do in the short time that hardly suffices for writing formal regrets for not being able to be present at the proposed conference.

Very respectfully,
WM. H. JONES.

Miss Jennie McClelland leaves next week for Bluffton and Montpelier to attend commencement exercises. She will then go to Warsaw to spend a three months' vacation at that place with friends.

SHOT HIMSELF.

Suicide of Samuel Fehlman, Formerly of This City.

Samuel Fehlman, formerly a resident of this city, committed suicide Sunday near Decatur. For a year or so Fehlman had been living with a farm family named Schilling. Sunday afternoon the family went to a river not far away to witness a baptizing. When they left Fehlman was sitting in a rocking chair near an open window. When they returned home he was lying on the floor in front of the chair with a bullet hole in his head and a revolver lying on the floor. Fehlman had been dead for some time.

About fifteen years ago Fehlman was married in this city, but his wife lived only a short time. After her death Fehlman became a sad-hearted man and never appeared the same as he had been. Six years ago he went to Decatur and worked about at odd jobs until a year ago, when he went to work for the Schilling family. His constant grieving over the loss of his wife, coupled with ill health, which came upon him in recent years, is supposed to have been the cause of his suicide.

The remains were brought to this city last night and taken to Wellman's undertaking establishment, where they were prepared for burial. Fehlman had a sister, Mrs. Ernestine, of Wells street.

A number of school children were bruised and scared by an accident that happened at the Jefferson street school yesterday. A platform had been erected upon which the children were seated for the purpose of having their pictures taken. This platform gave way and precipitated the entire crowd to the ground. Fortunately there were no serious results.

LOCAL NEWS.

A musical and literary entertainment is being arranged by the students of Concordia college for next Friday night.

Memorial services will be held at the Cathedral next Saturday morning. At 8 o'clock there will be a memorial high mass and Rev. John R. Quinlan will preach an eulogistic sermon upon the departed heroes.

Next Friday evening the Ladies' society of Bethany Presbyterian church will give a social and entertainment at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smaltz, on West Main street, to which all the friends of the church are cordially invited.

Last evening, at their home on Elm street, Mr. and Mrs. George Moore celebrated the fifteenth, or crystal, anniversary of their marriage. About fifty of their friends were assembled to enjoy the event with them and the evening was spent in a pleasant manner. At 10 o'clock a lunch was served. The host and hostess were the recipients of many handsome remembrances of the occasion. Among the guests were Mrs. Morris, of Pittsburg, and Mrs. Moore, of Newark, Ohio.

Beware Of Mercury!

Mr. Henry Roth, of 1848 South 9th Street, St. Louis, was given the usual mercurial treatment for contagious blood poison. He was twice pronounced cured, but the disease returned each time, he was seized with rheumatic pains, and red lumps and sores covered his body. "I was in a horrible fix" he says, "and the more treatment I received, the worse I seemed to get. A New York specialist said he could cure me, but his treatment did me no good whatever. I was stiff and full of pains, my left arm was useless so that I was unable to do even the lightest work. This was my condition when I began to take S. S. S., and a few bottles convinced me that I was being benefitted. I continued the medicine, and one dozen bottles cured me sound and well. My system was under the effects of mercury, and I would soon have been a complete wreck but for S. S. S."

IN THE

COURTS OF LOUISIANA

OF EMINENT PHYSICIANS AS TO THE CURATIVE EFFECTS OF A WONDERFUL

Mississippi Mineral Spring.

(FROM THE HARTFORD, CONN., TIMES.)

In an action of law recently instituted by the Stafford Mineral Springs and Hotel Company, limited, of New Orleans, who also have a depot at 255 Broadway, New York, and whose springs are near Vossburg, Miss., the suit is against E. J. Hart & Co., wholesale druggists of New Orleans. Deposition regarding the character and medicinal value of the S afford Mineral Spring Water was taken by order of the Civil District Court in the parish of Orleans, State of Louisiana, of a number of leading physicians of New York, Brooklyn, New Orleans, and elsewhere, which depositions were supplemented by the testimony of numerous physicians in open court at the trial of the case.

Among the physicians testifying as to the curative effects of the water in Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Cystitis, and other Kidney, Bladder, and Stomach Troubles were:

Dr. Edward Bradley of New York, formerly demonstrator of anatomy, New York Medical College; Dr. Frank E. Miller of New York; Dr. Job Corbin, medical director United States Navy, Brooklyn; Dr. J. F. Elliot, professor of the theory and practice Tulane University, New Orleans; Professor Metz, State Chemist of Louisiana; Dr. Wm. E. Brickell of New Orleans, and a host of other physicians.

There is no record of any testimony so strong and positive in its nature having ever been given under oath by any physicians in the history of medicine.

It is impossible to ignore the fact that this test, our is that of honorable, dignified, and eminent members of the medical profession. To ignore it is to deny the truth, a dangerous thing to do.

This water is for sale by all druggists.

THE sick man knocking at the door of health gets in if he knocks the right way, and stays out if he does not. There are thousand of ways of getting sick. There is only one way to get well. Do whatever you will, if you do not put your digestion in good order, and make your blood rich and pure, you will not get well. Rich, pure blood is the only thing that can bring perfect health. A large part of all the diseases that afflict mankind are traceable directly to impurities in the blood, and can be cured by eliminating all impurities. That most dreaded of all diseases, consumption, is a disease of the blood. The germs of it are always present in the lungs, but they cannot fasten themselves upon the tissues of the lungs unless the blood is in a diseased condition. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery works with unvarying success in all cases of blood disease, from the most trifling blotch, pimple or eruption to the most terrible scrofula. It clears the whole system of every impurity, from the common blood poison to the inherited taint of many generations. It cures Salt-rheum, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Eczema, Scaly or Rough Skin, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, Tumors, Tetter, Ulcers, Hot Shoulder, Fever-sores, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands, when it is taken in time and given a fair trial. It is unequaled as a remedy for all Chronic Sores, Ulcers, Open Wounds, Cancer, Fistula, Abscesses, Tumors, Piles, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, Consumption (in all its stages), and all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs, except consumption

"THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE"

IS HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE."

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths, the Plain Facts, the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life, Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls, Should Secure the Wonderful, Little Book Called "Complete Manhood, and How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, &c.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, &c.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, a relief to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday, and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me then I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cart load of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and ask for the little book entitled "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

FREE DISPENSARY.

Open every day from 8 a. m. to 9 a. m., at the Fort Wayne College of Medicine, 160 W. Superior street. Medicines free to the poor. Patients too sick to come to the Dispensary will be visited at their home.

NICKEL PLATE WASHOUT

Small Bridge Swept Away at Claypool.

A Bicycle Plant Wants to Locate Here —Mr. Woods' New Car— Local Gossip.

The storm which visited this city last evening raged furiously in Whitley and Kosciusko counties and did much damage to roads and crops. Near Claypool, a station on the Nickel Plate, about forty miles west of Fort Wayne, all the streams were overflown and several washouts occurred. A Nickel Plate bridge was carried away and trains on that line made the circuit of Plymouth and Columbia City to get around the washout, using the Vandalia, the Pittsburg and the Eel River roads. There were four trains sent around this way, two of them being Nos. 1 and 2, the fast passengers. The other two were through freight trains.

A BICYCLE PLANT WANTS A NEW HOME.

M. W. Fay is in receipt of a definite proposition from a bicycle manufacturing firm which is now located in the west and which desires a location in this city. One of the men was here some months ago and is greatly pleased with Fort Wayne. He says the firm will move the plant here at once and immediately give employment to 100 skilled workmen if the city will give them free fuel and free rent of a suitable building for two years. Mr. Fay estimates that this can be done for about $4,000 and he is now out with a subscription paper to raise the required amount. He has secured $1,000 already and hopes to raise the balance today. The bicycle manufactured by the concern is a leading one and is known in this city, there being several in use here.

ALTOONA'S CENTENNIAL

Altoona, on the Pennsylvania road, is to have a centennial anniversary next month, in which the railroads will be prominently represented. It is expected that the procession will be one of the largest in many years in that part of the state. Among the many Pennsylvania officials, whose lives are identified with the history of Blair county and whose attendance is expected, are Robert Pitcairn, A. J. Cassatt, W. A. Patton, Max Reibenack, Samuel Rea, Theodore W. Ely, John W. Renner, William H. Brown, R. L. Holliday and D. H. Lovell. George W. Stratton, master mechanic Altoona shops, and John P. Levan, general foreman of car shops, have been invited to have the different foremen, assistants and employes in their respective departments, machine and car shops, in line. The Tyrone and Altoona Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will be represented in the procession.

MINOR NOTES.

J. E. N. Dillon, of the Pennsylvania offices, went to Chicago this morning.

Charles Agster, of the electric works, had a finger lacerated in a lathe yesterday.

The presidents of the several Vanderbilt lines are holding a conference in New York today.

F. H. Crawford has been transferred from the winding room of the electric works to the laboratory.

Machinist Bob Taylor has recovered from his recent illness and is again working in the Bass shops.

Nickel Plate Brakeman Geo. Driver, who had been enjoying a brief vacation, resumed his duties yesterday.

Stenographer T. J. Kucher, of Supt. C. D. Law's office, resumed his duties this morning, after a brief illness.

Jacob Hilgeman, who has been east in the interest of the electric works for eight months, came home last night.

George Hess and his bride have returned from their wedding tour and he is again on duty at the electric works.

Fred Keifhaber, of the electric works, who had a finger injured some time ago, resumed his duties in the shop this morning.

The water mains on Wallace street are clogged and the residents of the east end of the street were without water today.

Storekeeper Enoch Cox, of the Pittsburg, will deliver the memorial address for the Odd Fellows at Rockfield, Ind., next Sunday.

Joseph Deahl, the genial caller at the Nickel Plate yard office, was a participant in a picnic out in the country yesterday.

Another excursion to Rome City was booked yesterday. It is that of the Ladies' society of Bethany church, which will take place June 22.

Anton Dirkis, of the electric works, had the tip of the index finger on his left hand torn off this morning by getting it into a punching machine.

President Depew, of the New York Central, says the prospects for the lines still outside the Joint Traffic association becoming members are exceedingly bright.

H. Overhalser, A. B. Van Meter, J. E. Allen and W. L. Hunt, all Nickel Plate brakemen, are taking a lay off Hunt has gone to Bellevue to look after some business.

Frank Huxley, M. Cain, George Moore and Frank Murphy, Nickel Plate engineers, have been on the absentee list for two or three days. Mr. Huxley is sick.

The car wheel department of the Bass works was closed today on account of the funeral of Mrs. Cupp, whose husband works in that shop. The men attended the funeral.

One of the new class L engines on the Pennsylvania last Thursday hauled the limited express of eight cars from Leahman's Place to Altoona, 132 miles, in two hours and forty minutes.

In southern California crude oil is cheap, while coal is very dear. As a result of this unnatural state of affairs the railways of that country are preparing to use oil for fuel on their locomotives.

Official notice is given of the appointment of J. Hatcaway as general auditor of the Lima Northern; A. C. Brainard, as assistant general freight agent, and F. E. Fisher as assistant general passenger agent.

Harry Rheins is favorably considered for the position of joint agent of the Big Four, Toledo and Ohio Central and Lake Shore in Detroit. He was formerly agent of the Chicago, Hamilton and Dayton in Indianapolis.

Within the last two weeks a division of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen has been organized at Pittsburg and Harrisburg, and of the membership a considerable percentage are in the employ of the Pennsylvania lines.

The fire at Mansfield, Ohio, which is noted in our telegraphic columns was responsible for the delay to several of the Pittsburg trains. No. 15 was held at that point two hours and forty five minutes and No. 5 was held an hour.

Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, president of the Grand Trunk, and General Manager Hays have just completed an inspection of the property. One result of the trip is that some important improvements have been decided on at Portland, Me.

No. 505, Vice President Joseph Wood's private car, passed through this city, a part of the limited, this morning. Mr. Woods was in the car. This is undoubtedly the finest car west of Pittsburg. It was built at the Columbus, Ohio, shops.

R. J. Fisher spent the day in Huntington, looking after the interests of the Bass works.

Lightning struck the Wabash machine shop at Andrews last night, knocking off a portion of the cornice.

Master Mechanic C. H. Daebler has gone to Springfield to attend the regular monthly meeting of Wabash master mechanics.

James Hartnett, yard foreman of the Wabash, is at the Wabash hospital at Springfield, Ill., undergoing treatment for sore eyes.

A doorway is being cut into the north wall of the Wabash machine shop to allow an extension of the drive wheel tracks, which are entirely too cramped at times.

W. C. Cherry, a boiler-maker, who was employed for some time in the Wabash shops, has gone to Wellsville, Ohio, to work in the Pennsylvania shops under Foreman Matt Baches.

J. A. Wise, an employe of the Pittsburg shops, had one of his fingers painfully mashed this morning. He was attended to by Dr. G. C. Stemen, who says the injury will not result in the loss of the finger.

The wind last night carried off the roofs of several Pittsburg cars, which were on a siding at Richey, Ohio, a little village near the state line. One of the roofs lodged on the telegraph wires and interfered with communication until it was dislodged.

It is stated that the general freight agents will favor a uniform classification as much as do the railway commissioners, who met in Washington last week, and will readily adopt any uniform classification, even if it be in the nature of an experiment.

A delayed telegram from Pittsburg last night requested the police to arrest a man named E. S. Harley, who was said to be a passenger on train No. 9. The message did not reach the city until the train had come and gone and of course no arrest was made. The man was charged with grand larceny.

The Ohio Falls car works are nearly out of work. A few men are engaged in building five coaches and three baggage cars for the Cincinnati, Jackson and Mackinaw road, but in the freight car department there is little doing. These works built many cars for the Pennsylvania company during the past three years.

Through eastbound freight is being carried around Chicago now as much as possible to save a $2 transfer charge, which the railways consider exorbitant. Freight designed for the Pittsburg is delivered to that line at Hamlet by the Indiana, Illinois and Iowa road, and business designed for the Nickel Plate is turned over by the three I's at Knox.

John E. Carson, the "poet machinist," has resigned a position in the Wabash shops and gone to Montreal to work in the Grand Trunk shops. His departure from our city is regretted by a large circle of friends, including his late shopmates. Mr. Carson has written a number of songs, some of them being very popular. Among the list are "Papa, You Won't Leave Mamma?" and "Maggie Belle."

W. W. Olmstead and H. F. Schwier, of the Wabash offices, made a phenomenal bicycle run last Sunday, when they made the circuit of New Haven, Goegline, Maysville, Leo and Fort Wayne in three hours and eighteen minutes. The distance covered was exactly forty miles. Frank Cummings, of the same office, who has been riding less than a week started out to make the trip, but turned about and returned when he reached New Haven.

Uniformed Attendants for Eastern Passengers via Pennsylvania Lines.

Uniformed parcel porters will, free of charge, look after the comfort of all arriving and departing passengers over the Pennsylvania system at Jersey City passenger station, and will accompany them (if desired) between Cortlandt street ferry, New York city, and the American Line pier, Sixth Avenue Elevated railroad, and the Central railroad of New Jersey station; also between Desbrosses street ferry, New York city, and the Ninth Avenue Elevated railroad. The Winslow people threaten to take Thursman and hang him if the boy dies. They were only prevented from lynching him by cooler headed citizens.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

BEDRIDDEN.

FIFTEEN YEARS OF SUFFERING.

The Doctors Wanted Seven Hundred Dollars to Attempt the Case.

The following is a letter we received a short time ago from Mrs. M. C. Hinkley, 601 North Mississippi St., Indianapolis, Ind.:

Gent emen:—While suffering intensely from piles, I became interested in your advertisement in one of our daily papers and procured a package of your Pyramid Pile Cure from our druggist. Contrary to my expectations, the relief was instantaneous. I used two boxes of the Pile Cure and one of the Pills and am convinced that they are the only cure for piles in the world. I have been a sufferer from piles for fifteen years and have been confined to my bed about one half of the time, expecting and wishing for death for the pain was so great. I went to the college here and the doctors said my case was a new one to them, the great pain having brought on a large rupture, which they wanted seven hundred dollars to cut out. I was very much afraid that death would result from the blood-poisoning which they said would result from the operation. I feel as though I can't praise the Pyramid Pile Cure and the Pyramid Pills too highly, as I am convinced that they saved my life. Before using your cure I weighed only ninety pounds and now I weigh one hundred and fifty and feel as well as I ever did in my life. You are at liberty to use this testimonial in any manner you may see fit, as I want all sufferers from this terrible disease to know that there has at last been compounded a remedy that will cure piles. MRS. M. C. HINKLEY.

There is no need of the danger, pain and expense of a surgical operation for any form of piles. The Pyramid Pile Cure does the work without pain and is the safest and best. Remember also that the Pyramid Pills are a certain cure for constipation, acting without griping and restoring natural action of the bowels.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents and $1.00, and the Pyramid Pills at 25 cents, or by mail from Pyramid Co., Albion, Mich.

RUSSIA'S RULER.

Coronation of Czar at Moscow.

Nicholas and the Empress Crowned.

Brilliant and Impressive Ceremonies.

The Capital of All the Russias is the Scene of an Event Which Attracts World Wide Attention.

Moscow, May 26—His majesty, the Emperor Nicholas Alexandrovitch, autocrat of all the Russians, and her majesty, the Empress Alexandra Feodorovna, were solemly crowned today in the Cathedral of the Asumption, with the utmost ceremony and in accordance with all the religious forms and ancient rites.

At 7 o'clock this morning the ceremonies commenced with a salute of twenty cannons marking the opening of the day, and at the same hour the bells in the Cathedral of the Asumption began ringing. Half an hour later the court dignitaries and distinguished persons who were to take part in the imperial cortege began to assemble in the halls of the palace and in the cathedral. The ladies were in court dress and the dignitaries were in full uniform.

CZAR NICHOLAS.

The envoys extraordinary, the ambassadors, the ministers plenipotentiary and the charges d'affaires, with their wives, as well as the representatives of the diplomatic corps assembled at the palace of the Kremlin shortly after 8 o'clock and were invited by the masters of the ceremonies to repair to the Cathedral of the Assumption and take the places reserved for them.

A tedeum was celebrated in the cathedral at 8 o'clock in the morning, and after prayers, the clergy in full canonicals assembled in front of the cathedral to receive her majesty, the ex Czarina Marie Feodorovna. The latter, on the conclusion of the tedeum, repaired to the Cathedral of the Assumption, accompanied by the members of the imperial family of the highest rank, with the exception of those who were to take part in the emperor's procession, and by the distinguished guests of their majesties.

The train of the ex-czarina was carried by four court chamberlains and the imperial mantle was held up by two court officials on each side, the train of the mantle being carried by a grand dignitary of the imperial court. From the last step of the Krasnoe Kryltzo up to the cathedral entrance eight court dignitaries of the third class carried the canopy beneath which the ex-empress walked, and the golden cords of the canopy, a most gorgeous construction, were carried by eight court dignitaries of the third class.

In front of the Cathedral of the Asumption her majesty was received by the Metropolitan of Moscow, who presented her with the cross and holy water. Her majesty then received the benediction of the clergy and was escorted to her seat on the throne of the Czar Alexis Milkhalovitch, which had been placed on a special estrade for the occasion and surmounted by a beautiful canopy.

Their imperial highnesses, the grand duchesses and grand dukes, and the august guests of their majesties, took the places set aside for them, and the grand master of the ceremonies of the imperial court stationed himself to the right of the estrade. The members of the military households of the imperial grand dukes and of the foreign princesses were afterwards escorted to their places by masters of the ceremonies.

So soon as the procession of her majesty, the ex czarina, had started for the Cathedral of the Asumption, the high court dignitaries who had assembled at the palace, received the imperial insigna in the throne hall and took up the stations allotted to them in the escort of the emperor. Before the procession started, the grand almoner of their majesties, carrying a large golden cross studded with jewels, and assisted by two deacons carrying a golden bowl full of holy water, sprinkled the whole route which was to be followed by their majesties from the palace to the Cathedral of the Asumption.

The ex Empress Marie Feodorovna's departure for the Cathedral of the Assumption having been announced, the czar and czarina made their entrance in to throne hall and seated themselves on their thrones on which was a magnificent canopy. A moment later, a signal announced that the time had arrived for the departure of the imperial corelge, and the latter moved towards the cathedral. The grand procession was headed by the Chevalier guards of the ex-Empress Marie Feodorovna and was a long and brilliant one, interspersed throughout were military officers and soldiers, whose brilliant uniforms made the cathedral resplendent.

At the moment the imperial cortege appeared on leaving the palace the bells in all the churches of Moscow were rung and troops, in parade order, presented arms and rendered all military honors to the imperial party.

As their majesties approached the entrance of the cathedral the metropolitan of Moscow pronounced the usual allocution, the metropolitan of St. Petersburg presented the cross to their majesties, and the metropolitan of Kieff presented them with holy water. Entering the cathedral their majesties bowed to the knees three times before a holy door and venerated the saintly images. They afterwards moved towards the estrade and took their seats on the thrones of the Czars Michael Feodorovitch and John III.

The bishops, archbishops, and the officiating clergy placed themselves in two ranks between the entrance of the throne and the holy door, and the chorus chanted the palam "Misericordian Et Judicam Cantabo Tibi Domine." The dignitaries carrying the imperial mantles stationed themselves on the first step of the throne. A dignitary holding the sword of the empire, stood on the second step of the throne, while the bearer of the standard occupied a position on the third step. Other auxilliaries to the pageant were grouped about in suitable order.

The ceremony of the coronation and annointment was then accomplished as follows: The metropolitan of St. Petersburg mounted the steps of the throne, placed his front to the emperor and invited his majesty to make, before his faithful subjects and in a loud voice, his profession of orthodox faith, and presented him with the open book from which the emperor recited the symbol of the faith. After this the metropolitan of St. Petersburg pronounced the ritual: "Gratia spiritus sancti sit semper tecum. Amen."

The metropolitan then left the estrade and after the reading of the holy gospel the metropolitans of St. Petersburg and of Kieff mounted the steps to the throne. The emperor arose, and taking off the collar of the Order of St. Andrew, ordered that the imperial mantle with the collar, in diamonds, of that order, be presented to him. They were presented on cushions by the metropolitans of St. Petersburg and Kieff, who also assisted his majesty to put on the mantel. The metropolitan of St. Petersburg then pronounced the words. "In nomine patris et filiot spiritus sancti. Amen."

One of the assistants of his majesty adjusted the imperial mantle. His majesty received the pontifical benediction of the metropolitan of St. Petersburg, who placed his hands on the czar's head in the form of a cross, reciting the two prayers prescribed by the ritual. The prayers terminated, the emperor ordered that the imperial crown be presented to him. Thereupon the metropolitan of St. Petersburg took the imperial crown and handed it to the emperor, who took it in his hands and placed it on his head. The metropolitan then, in a loud voice, pronounced the prescribed allocution.

In a similar manner his majesty caused to be presented to him the sceptre and the globe, and having taken the sceptre in his right hand and the globe in the left, he seated himself upon the throne. A few moments later his majesty arose and placed the sceptre and globe upon cushions.

The monarch then called upon her majesty, the Empress Alexandria Feodorovna, to approach, and she knelt before him on a velvet cushion richly embroidered with gold. His majesty thereupon solemnly lifted the crown from his own head and touched with it the forehead of the empress. He then replaced the crown upon his own head. His majesty afterwards took up the crown of the empress and placed it on the head of her majesty. Her majesty's imperial mantle and the collar of the Order of St. Andrew was next presented with the same ceremony. This done, her majesty took her seat on the throne while the emperor again took the sceptre in his right hand and the globe in his left.

The archdeacon next proclaimed the imperial title in extenso and intoned the verses "Domine, Salvum Fac Imperalorem" and "Domine, Salvan Fac Imperalitecum," followed by the "Ad Multos Annos," which the choir repeated three times. After the chanting the bells of the cathedral and of all the other sacred edifices throughout Moscow were rung and a salute of 101 cannon shots was fired.

The emperor then arose, handed the sceptre and the sceptre and the globe to the attendants and knelt down to recite, from the book presented to him by the metropolitan of St. Petersburg, the prayer prescribed for the occasion. The prayer terminated, the metropolitan and all present knelt and in the name of the nation, offered up prayers to the Almighty. After the prayer the metropolitan of St. Petersburg addressed a short allocution to the emperor and the choir entoned the tedeum to the sound of the bells of all the churches of the Kremlin. During this ceremony the czar stood with bared head. The reading of the Holy Gospel followed, and two archbishops presented the Holy book to their majesties to kiss.

The anthem terminated and the officiating clergy having been notified that the holy door was open, two archbishops, assisted by arch deacons, advanced from the altar towards his majesty to announce to the latter that the holy ceremony of the annointment was to begin. Thereupon his majesty, having handed his sword to one of his august assistants, descended from the throne, and, preceded by the sceptre, the globe, and the crown, went towards the holy door, followed by the Empress Alexandria Feodorona.

On both sides of his majesty were his assistants, the minister of the imperial household, the minister of war, the aide de camps, etc. Approaching the holy door, the emperor and empress stood upon the golden cloth. The attendants grouped themselves on either side and behind their majesties. The metropolitan of St. Petersburg, bearing the precious amphora with the holy chrism, dipped it in the golden bowl prepared for the purpose and anointed the forehead, eyelids, nostrils, ears, chest and hands of the emperor, pronouncing the words: "Immunio dont spiritus sancti." The ringing of bells, and firing of a salute of 101 guns, notified the populace of the conclusion of this ceremony.

After the holy unction, his majesty placed himself on the right, in front of the image of the Savior, and the empress approached the holy door, where the metropolitan of St. Petersburg anointed her on the forehead, pronouncing the words of the ritual.

The metropolitan of St. Petersburg afterwards introduced the emperor into the sanctuary of the holy door, the other prelates officiating, holding up the imperial mantle from the moment he passed the door.

Subsequently the emperor received the holy communion, as it is administered to priests—that is, separately—by virtue of his sovereignty.

Leaving the sanctuary his majesty again took up his place before the image of the Saviour, while the empress received holy communion according to the usual rite. Their majesties re turned to their thrones, where the post communion ceremonies were performed, and at the end of the mass the archdeacon intoned the verses: "Domine, salvum fac imperatorium," and "Domine, salvum fac imperatricem." The choir repeated three times, "Ad multos annos." At the end of the service the clergy presented the cross to their majesties for them to kiss. The emperor replaced the crown on his head, again took the sceptre and the globe in his hands and the clergy and all the persons present presented their felicitations upon the conclusion of the ceremonies of the coronation and the annointment.

The procession then moved back to the palace in the same order and with the same ceremony as upon the occasion of leaving it, preceded by the cortege of the ex-empress, Marie Feodorovna. After leaving the Cathedral of the Asumption, the emperor and empress repaired to the Cathedral of the Archangel Michael, where they were received by the bishop of Kostroma, who presented them with the cross and holy water and proceeded them into the cathedral.

Upon entering the sacred edifice his majesty placed his crown, sceptre and globe in the hands of attendants, their majesties knelt and prayed before the holy images, relics and tombs of their ancestors and the archdeacon read the Tzanies. Upon resuming the crown, sceptre and globe the emperor proceeded in state with the empress to the Cathedral of the Annunciation, where they were received by the archbishop of Kilonsan and the clergy. There also his majesty took off the crown and placed the sceptre and globe in the hands of those charged to receive them and the usual religious ceremonies followed.

From the Cathedral of the Annunciation their majesties went to the palace and at the Krasnoe Kryltzo received the benediction of the metropolitan of St. Petersburg. Entering the throne hall of the palace his majesty gave the sceptre and globe into the hands of their keepers and he and the empress, wearing their crowns and imperial mantles, retired to their private apartments. At the banquet which followed at the Granovitai Palats the utmost state was observed, the imperial grand dukes and grand duchesses and august foreign princes and the leading members of their suites were in attendance with the holy synod, the high clergy and others. But only persons of the highest importance were present at the imperial banquet, the other guests being entertained, according to their rank.

Work on tearing up Pontiac street for paving, between Calhoun and Lafayette streets, was commenced this afternoon by Contractor Moellering. It was intended to commence the work yesterday morning, but the weather hindered, and it could not be done until today. DALLAS F. GREEN.

STREWN WITH DEAD

Terrific Cyclone in Michigan.

Death Roll Runs Into the Hundreds.

Villages of Yesterday Are Ruins Today.

Terrible Ruin Wrought by the Winds in the Path Over Which It Swept.

Oxford, Mich., May 26—A terrible cyclone struck the village of Oakwood last evening and entirely wiped it off the earth, destroying all the buildings and leaving death and destruction in its trail.

From reports that continue to come in from adjacent points the full force of the fierce wind that swept this part of Oakland county is beginning to be appreciated. Everywhere is devastation. Villages that were yesterday the homes of contented citizens are today desolate sites, and maimed and bruised fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters mourn for those who met death in the twisting, grinding, resistless wind.

The death roll in this vicinity may run to the hundred mark, for many homes that were on the edge of the cyclone suffered from its fury.

At Oakwood, a hamlet five miles north of Oxford, having a population of about 200, not a house is left standing. The two churches are flattened to the earth. The path of the storm was between a half and three-fourths of a mile wide and it extended in a nearly straight course eastward for over a distance of thirty miles. A remarkable circumstance is that the buildings in close proximity to each other were blown in opposite directions, some being swept northward and others southward.

THE DEAD.

The following are known to have been killed in this county:

Near Ortonville—W. J. Mitchell, wife, and two children, Mrs. Henry Quick, John Wilkins, John Porritt, Mrs. Joseph Porritt, John Milkey, T. E. Gleason, Mrs. T. D. Eaton, Abe Kitchell, Mrs. Wm. Kitchen, Edwin Fifield, two children of Mr. Howe.

At Oakwood—Mrs. Susan Stewart, Mrs. E. A. Wolverton, Mrs. Wm. Davison and daughter, Ida Ed. Fifield, child of Alfred Fifield. Ed Howe is fatally injured.

At Thomas—Charles Hicks and son.

Reported dead at North Oxford—Mrs. Oscar Slate, Thomas Bishop, a farm laborer, name unknown; Joseph Smiley and son.

Injured—Frank Laidlaw, wife and child; Mrs. Laidlaw was seriously hurt.

THE INJURED.

At Thomas—Mrs. C. A. Hicks, frightfully crushed; Mrs. Sid Copeman, will not live; Elvery Hicks, badly crushed; T. P. Knapp, head badly bruised; William Althouse, internal injuries; Geo. Hibler, both legs broken; William Carr, fearfully bruised, injured internally; Charles Bradley, injured about the head; A. M. Kiddor, arm badly shattered.

At Oakwood—M. Fifield, both legs broken, daughter, Jessie, badly injured; Harvey Francis, internal injuries, cannot live; Myron Johnson, leg broken; Mrs. E. A. Howe and one or two children.

Near Ortonville, between twenty and twenty-five were more or less seriously injured.

GOT A WIDE BERTH.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., May 26—Last night's cyclone left a track five hundred and fifty feet wide through the southeastern part of town, which looks as though a reaper with a gigantic scythe had been endeavoring to mow a harvest. Fortunately nearly everybody was in such positions as to avoid fatalities. No one was killed outright and none of the injured have died.

The injured are. Mrs. Anna Pohl, widow, back broken, injured internally, breast crushed in; will not live. Henry Pohl, aged fourteen, hip broken; injured internally; Adolph Pohl, aged twelve, right leg broken, bruised about shoulders and body; Willie Pohl, aged ten, injured internally, right leg broken, left shoulder dislocated, recovery doubtful; Mrs. Joseph Harden, injured internally, cut about the head and arms; Russell Carter, head and face cut; Mrs. Russell Carter, injured internally, breast and shoulders bruised; Baby Carter, head badly cut; Gustave Catche, cut on head and right arm broken; Mrs. Wm. Ormsby, left arm broken and badly cut on face; Miss Anna Belle Leabo, left arm broken, right arm injured, skull fractured.

The family of Ferdinand Heckman miraculously escaped. They had barely gotten into the cellar when their house was blown out of existence. Fred La Forge and wife had just gone to a relative's house when their home was destroyed. The roof and sides of the largest of the Charbeneau icehouses were blown off, leaving the mass of ice standing.

THIRTEEN PERSONS DROWNED.

Cairo, Ill., May 26—The storm struck this locality at 9:30 a. m. There was a terrific wind and rain. The opera house and union depot were unroofed, numbers of trees destroyed, and signs blown down, but no houses were destroyed nor lives lost in the city. The ferry boat Katherine was capsized at the mouth of the Ohio, drowning all on board but the captain, engineer and clerk. As near as can be learned, the dead number thirteen, among them Captain Rittenhouse, superintendent of the Ferry company, Dr. Orr's two daughters, and Richard Thurman, C. F. Wickliff and Chas H. Hofer, a merchant of this city. Only three bodies, those of Thurman, Miss Orr and a deck hand, have been recovered. A tug is searching for the others. Business in the city is practically at a standstill.

LATEST FROM WISCONSIN.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 26—Later reports from North McGregor, Iowa, relative to the havoc caused by the storm and flood on Sunday night, shows that the destruction of the interests of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road at that point, as well as of the little town are about complete. The total damage to the property of the company is now estimated at $125,000. The loss of life will probably be found to be nearer to twenty than ten. Of thirteen persons known to be missing the bodies of six have been recovered. The water is receding very slowly. But little in the way of the search for bodies or the recovery of property has yet been done. It will be at least ten days before the St. Paul railway can resume operations on its line west from McGregor.

HOME MISSIONS

Occupies the Assembly's Attention This Morning.

The Report Shows a Satisfactory Condition of the Finances—The Proceedings.

Saratoga, N. Y., May 26.—The opening of the Presbyterian general assembly session today was characterized by a struggle over the approval of the records. These showed that resolutions in regard to the Presbyterian house in New York were referred to the finance committee and made an exclusive order for this morning. Elder McDougall contended that the record was wrong. All the clerks united in maintaining its correctness and the latter view prevailed. The order was subject to an understanding that in case the resolutions called for serious discussion that they should go over. Elder McDougall moved that they be referred to the joint committees on home and foreign missions and that their report be made a special order for Thursday afternoon. The assembly gave unanimous consent to this course. The committee on bills and overtures reported papers from two Presbyteries of New York and Long Island, stating their intention to exercise their constitutional rights in the reception and license of theological students. These papers were called forth by the injunction placed on the Presbyterians of New York a year ago against receiving the students of the Union seminary. The papers were referred to the judicial committee.

The regular order was then taken up, being the report on home missions. The present debt was almost $300,000; receipts amounted to $729,433 and expenditures reached $858,285. From the reunion fund the receipts reached $191,230. The cost of administration aggregated $91 932. Under the board is a total of 1,544 ministers, 1,839 churches and a membership of 100 000. During the year 9,179 new members have been added. The report of the committee made recommendations as to the methods of administration and provided for a committee of nine to investigate the affairs of the board in order to secure improved efficiency and any possible retrenchment.

DALLAS F. GREEN.

CONFERENCE WORK.

The Morning Session Occupied With Committee Reports.

The Conference Then Gets Into a Discussion Over a Night Session.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 26—The M. E. conference opened promptly on time today, with Bishop W. X. Ninde in the chair. Robert Forbes conducted the devotional exercises, and after several minor reports had been received the book committee made its report. The chief item of interest in the report was the creation of the Value book editor. At present Editor Kelly, of New York, and Editor Moore, of Cincinnati, act in this capacity, but the committee decided that the work should be taken out of their hands and placed in the hands of one man. The conference did not take kindly to the proposition and for an hour it was discussed pro and con. George C. Sturgiss made the report for the book committee and defended it against the objections of the opposition. After the reading of the book committee's report Dr. Lanahan arose and opposed it by saying that he thought a careful examination of the records will show that the conference had about one officer for every eleven or twelve delegates. He was followed by W. V. Kelly, editor of the Methodist Review, and book editor, who also spoke against it, saying that he did not think the time had come for such an editor as book editor. Geo. C. Sturgiss, chairman of the book committee, next replied to the gentleman after several resolutions had been made to strike out the creation of a book editor. He said it had met with the approval of every one of the book committee and he hoped it would be adopted. A motion to lay on the table was next made, but it being lost, Dr. Miller took the floor, while another delegate tried to move the previous question and proceeded to speak in favor of it.

After extended debate the report was adopted. The conference spent the next half hour debating whether or not a session should be held this evening in spite of the temperance anniversary. Frequent flights of oratory and a parliamentary tangle was the result and then a recess was taken without anything definite being decided.

When the conference again convened the synod order, the consecration of the three newly elected bishops, was taken up. Bishop Bowman presided and brought up the rear of the line of bishops, elders and candidates. He announced the singing of the hymn "Horalds of the Cross," and after the vast audience had sung the hymn through, still standing, Bishop Vincent read the collect as follows:

"Almighty God, who, by Thy son Jesus Christ didst give to Thy holy apostles, elders and evangelists many excellent gifts, and didst charge them to feed Thy flock; give grace, we beseech Thee, to all the ministers and pastors of Thy church that they may diligently preach Thy word and duly administer the godly discipline thereof; and grant to the people that they may obediently follow the same, that all may receive the crown of everlasting glory through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen."

The epistle from Acts XX, 17-35, by Bishop Thoburn, followed. The Gospel was recited by Bishop Taylor. It was the Gospel of St. John, chapter xxi, 15-17.

Subsequent to this came the actual ceremony of consecration, the most important feature of the entire conference. The candidates were presented before the assembled multitude by the elders. They are: Charles Cardwell McCabe, by Rev. L. D. McCabe, D. D., and Rev. T. C. Iliff, D. D., Earl Cranston, by Rev. D. L. Parker and Rev. S. Rust, D. D., and Joseph Hartzell by Rev. M. C. B. Mason, D. D., and Rev. Samuel L. Beidler, Ph. D. Prayer was by Bishop Ninde and prayer was offered by Bishop Fitzgerald. A very imposing service was the formal examination of the candidates and invocation of divine grace upon the event by Bishop Andrews.

After prayer by Bishop Fowler came the important movement of the laying on of hands and presentation of the Bible indicative to consecration as bishop of Christ's chosen flock of pastors. The meeting was brought to a conclusion with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Foster.

WORKS BURNED.

Aultman and Taylor Suffer a Heavy Loss.

A Portion of Their Immense Factory Destroyed—Eighteen Horses Cremated.

Mansfield, Ohio, May 26—Lightning struck the warehouse of Aultman & Taylor at 12 o'clock last night and immediately started a fire, which for awhile threatened the entire plant. As it was the warehouse, which contained 800 separators and a large number of horse power machines, the entire season's supply, it is total loss. The paint shop and dry houses were also destroyed. The blacksmith shop, moulding shop and carpenter shop were saved. The loss is estimated at about $7 000 and is only covered by insurance. A livery stable near by also took fire and was destroyed and eighteen horses perished in the flames. The trains on the Pittsburg tracks, which the burned works were located, were detained from one to three hours by the intense heat of the fire.

CRUELTY TO A DOG.

Fined $7 and Costs in a Justice Court.

Divorced Parties Marry Again—Recorder Case—Brent Tolan's Contract Let Read.

Justice Francy fined Charles Lincoln $5 and costs for cruelty to animals. The complaint alleged that the defendant had taken the young dog of Alphonse Havert and thrown it over his fence, thereby breaking the leg of the animal.

N. G. Hunter, of Wabash, grand chancellor of the Knights of the Maccabees, is arguing a demurrer in the superior court to the complaint in the case of John Anderson against the Maccabee order. The defense has not yet filed an answer in the case.

Christian Schwartz and Magdeline Schwartz have been given a license to wed. The parties were recently divorced and now desire to live together again.

The contract for the employment of B. S. Tolan as architect for the new court house was today finally completed between the county commissioners and Mr. Tolan. The latter furnishes a bond of $50,000 for the faithful performance of his duty. It is signed by R. L. Roney, Frank J. Gruber, John W. White and L. J. Bobilya. Mr. Tolan is given for his services 5 per cent of the actual cost of the building, 2½ per cent. of which is given him when the contract is awarded. If the building costs $400 000, the pay of Mr. Tolan would be $20,000.

MYSTERIOUS CASE.

Harry Beyerle's Throat Cut From Ear to Ear.

Says He Fell Down Stairs on a Beer Bottle—Looks Like Attempted Suicide.

Harry Beyerle, a young man who has been employed in Baumes' bottling works, cut his throat night before last, but whether or not it was with suicidal intent is just now unknown.

Beyerle boards with Mrs. Moran, at No. 435 South Hanna street. He was found in his room with a frightful gash in his throat, extending almost from one ear to the other. When Dr. McCausland arrived a half hour later Beyerle had bled almost to death. The wound was closed up and Dr. McCausland says today that the young man will get well.

The general impression has been that Beyerle tried to kill himself with a razor and failed. The only explanation he gives himself is that he started to walk down stairs and fell upon a beer bottle, which broke and cut his throat. There is considerable of the mysterious about the case and it seems that there is a preconcerted effort to keep the truth away from the newspapers. It appears doubtful that such a gash could be cut in such a manner by a fall upon a piece of glass.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Board of Public Safety Will Attend to It.

Tour of All the Engine Houses is to be Made Tomorrow Afternoon.

The board of public safety now intends to pay a little attention to the fire department. Thus far the board has been attending to the police department. A few changes have already been made in the force and a few more will be made.

There are about forty applications in for positions on the fire force. The board will go out tomorrow afternoon and make a tour of all the engine houses for the purpose of seeing just how everything stands.

A meeting of the board will be had tomorrow night and whether or not any heads will be chopped off among the firemen remains to be seen.

FREE SILVER WING

Holding a Meeting at Indianapolis, Ind.

Indianapolis, May 26—Prominent representatives of the free silver wing of the democratic party are holding a meeting this afternoon at the Grand hotel and are discussing the plan of operation which will be pursued until the meeting of the state convention, June 21. Although it is yet one month until the convention meets, the free silver wing is confident of controlling not only the platform, but the ticket, and the meeting today is to make final arrangements. The meeting was called one week ago when the executive committee met here, the idea being to perfect arrangements for capturing the delegates and through them the committees. The free silver people expect to control the committees on rules, organization, credentials and platform and will discuss names for these committees. They will also discuss the candidate for governor. Although Mr. Shively is in the lead and if the convention were held now he would receive nearly the entire support of the free wing of the party, yet the friends of Mr. Shively have been approached with the nomination and the wing desires to act in unison. A candidate will probably be decided upon.

George A. Darlow and Senia Bernhardt, Frank L. Martin and Elsie E. Long, Frank W. Snyder and Julia Krienbrink here been licensed to wed.

OVER A WOMAN.

Two Men Had a Fight on Berry Street.

They Were All Arrested by Officer Hines—A Sensational Case Developed.

Officer Hines gathered in a trio this morning on East Berry street who had quite a tale to tell in police court. They were two men and a woman.

Hines saw two men fighting on the corner by the city hall. He stopped the racket and demanded an explanation. One man said the other fellow had been with his wife. The other fellow said he met the woman on the street and she told him that her "man" had been abusing her. He said he was assisting her to find another boarding house. Hines took all three to the police station.

A little questioning brought out all the facts in the case. The woman's name is Jennie Piper. For three months she has been living with a man named William McClellan as his wife, at No. 103 West Main street. Last night the woman went out upon the street and picked up a traveling man whose name in police court was Charles D. Smith, but whose right name is something else. She claims that McClellan compelled her to do this. At first McClellan claimed the woman was his wife, but this she denied.

All three were charged with adultery. Smith plead guilty and paid his fine of $10 50 and departed with a smile.

McClellan also plead guilty. He claimed to Mayor Scherer that he wanted to marry the woman, and that he intended to do so just as soon as she could get a divorce from her husband, who is now in Canada. He professed the most intense love for her and said he could not live without her. He said he had a divorced wife in Canada. McClellan was fined $10 50.

Mrs. Piper did not say anything about sharing in the love business. She plead guilty to the charge and Mayor Scherer fined her the same as the rest. She told the mayor she would get out of the city if he would give her a chance. The mayor, therefore, suspended sentence long enough to let her get away. After she left the court room McClellan tried to induce Mayor Scherer to cut the price on the fine. He said he only had five dollars and that he did not want to go to jail. The mayor refused to reduce the amount and McClellan started to jail. Before he got out of the police station, however, he produced a roll of bills as large as a man's hat and paid his fine to Officer Hines.

This squared the entire matter and McClellan started out to find the woman again. Whether they will both leave town or not is still a question. They came here together from Canada about eight months ago and have been here ever since.

BOARD MEETING.

Routine Business Transacted Last Night.

Contract Let for Setting Drinking Fountains—West Fifth Street to be Improved.

At the meeting of the board of public works last night the contract for setting the new drinking fountains in various parts of the city was let to Elmer Martin, the south side plumber.

The contract for furnishing lumber for the city during the ensuing year was let to Killian Baker, at $15.40 per 1,000 feet.

The board fixed the salary of the day man at the crematory at $45 per month and of the night man at $40 per month. The pay of the acting city scavenger was placed at $12 per month.

Councilman Schaad complained of a low side walk on East DeWald street, and Attorney J. B. Harper made a similar complaint about one on Barr street, near Washington.

The engineer was instructed to prepare plans for the grading and laying sidewalks on both sides of West Fifth street from Wells street to Berthold avenue.

The clerk was instructed to order six copies of the new city directory.

Several of the residents of West Berry street, petitioned the board to have removed two large trees which recently fell into St. Mary's river at the outlet of the two sewers between Rockhill and Nelson streets. The board, upon consideration, found that the ground adjacent belonged to John M Miller, and instructed the clerk to notify Mr. Miller to remove the trees.

MR. W. F. REITZE.

A. O. U. W. Friends Present Him With a Past Master Workman's Jewel.

Wm. F. Reitze, the teller of the Old National bank, was treated to a pleasant surprise last Saturday evening at the home of Dr. J. W. Younge, in South Wayne, by a number of his friends of A. O. U. W. lodge No. 19, who presented him with a past master workman's jewel in honor of the long service he had given that organization in the office of receiver. The affair was arranged so that he was ignorant of the object of the gathering until Dr. Younge, with a speech which was appropriate to the occasion, stepped forward and in the name of his friends presented him with the handsome jewel. Mr. Reitze was taken completely by surprise, but he thanked his donors as best he could and he did it gracefully. Elegant refreshments were then served the thirty five ladies and gentlemen present by Mrs Younge, and the balance of the evening was spent with music and other social amusements.

Again the relentless cyclone brings death and destruction—this time in Michigan.

Legislative honors are being sought for quite extensively this year. There are several candidates from this county for the democratic nominations.

The democrats of Montgomery county met in convention at Crawfordsville last Saturday and adopted resolutions favoring Governor Matthews for president, and Senator James M. Sellers for governor.

The fashionable city of Morrow has been the scene of many royal fetes during the past week or two, but the coronation ceremony to-day is the crowning event.

It looks as if John Clark Edgerly, of Greencastle, the historian, will be renominated for congress by the democrats of the Fifth Indiana district. He has intimated that he will not decline the nomination.

The election of the president's successor, congress if it does not assume greater power as a prerogative, is at least second to the right to exercise, although to possibility has ever dominated. But we live in a progressive age and a great many things are done nowadays that our forefathers would not have done.

Next Monday the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette and Tribune will consolidate. Negotiations have been progressing for weeks, but the announcement was not made until yesterday. The paper will be called the Commercial Tribune and will probably be issued from the Commercial-Gazette plant.

The crop prospects among the cereal producing nations of the world are not encouraging, and so far as reports have been published everything looks favorable to better prices. This will prove welcome intelligence to farmers in this country who have been supplying foreign markets under limited demands at improverishingly low prices.

It is now alleged that the only object of Quay in visiting McKinley was to present himself as a candidate for chairman of the republican national committee to manage McKinley's campaign. Mr. Quay is evidently one of those men who look high to see if there is anything in sight that they want, but take whatever is within reach.

If John J. Douglas, of Akron, Ohio, shall succeed in getting the prohibition nomination for the presidency, as he says he will, a picturesque element will be added to the campaign. He is a colored man, who has attracted much attention in the west by his vigorous work in favor of prohibition. He is really a mixture of three races—Scotch, Indian and negro—and though he is only a hodcarrier, he believes that he has been chosen by Providence as the standard bearer of the prohibition cause.

PROHIBITIONISTS.

Thousands of Them Gathering at Pittsburg.

The Temperance Question Seems to Have Been Laid Aside for the Present.

Pittsburg, May 26.—Nearly all the delegates to the national prohibition convention have arrived and thousands of visitors interested in the proceedings have come with them. As each state delegation arrives, the friends of both factions, free silver and gold standard, get after them with arguments of persuasion. Each faction is doing its utmost to proselyte supporters of the other's principles. Each faction claims a majority of the delegates, but from the eagerness of the various leaders to win converts, it is as yet anybody's fight. The first question upon which the opposing wings of the party will test their strength will be the naming of a temporary chairman. He will be chosen at the meeting of the national central committee to be held at the Seventh avenue hotel tonight. Those prominently mentioned for the place are A. A. Stevens, of Tyron, Pa., and Edward J. Wheelock, of New York. The former will be backed by the narrow gauge, or gold standard men, while the latter will carry the free silver standard. The National Intercollegiate Prohibition association, claiming to represent one hundred and fifty colleges of this country, will hold an oratorical contest tonight. There will be ten contestants, each of whom is champion of the state from which he comes.

WILL CLOSE FRIDAY.

All the Glass Factories But One.

Over 5,000 Men Will Then be Idle, Many of Them Citizens of Indiana.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 26.—In harmony with the agreement of the western and southern wings of glass manufacturers' associations, all the factories in the country but one will shut down next Friday, May 29 for an indefinite period. The suspension will last at least three months, perhaps longer, and will affect 5,000 glass workers, comprising blowers, gatherers, cutters, flatteners, day hands and laborers. The one factory that may not close is that of James A. Chambers, at New Kensington, employing 300 men. In June a delegate convention of workers will assemble in this city to discuss the proposed changes in the policy of the association. The convention is expected to be the most important ever held, and the factional quarrels which have been disturbing the affairs of the association are expected to be fought to a sharp finish. A contest with the associated manufacturers over the annual wage scale is looked for. Work in the coal mines along the Monongahela and Youghiogheny rivers has also been generally suspended, on account of low water. Over 6,000 miners are idle.

MADE HOMELESS.

Canadian Town Swept by a Fire.

Catholic Church, Several Stores and Many Residences Are Destroyed.

Deseronto, Ont., May 26.—Yesterday afternoon fire broke out in the tie dock of the Rathburn company and in a short time spread to the docks adjoining, destroying large quantities of shingles, posts, hardwood, etc., a flour mill, bran house, elevator, and the Conne club boat house. Going northward and eastward it swept away almost the entire eastern portion of the town. The Roman Catholic church and several stores were consumed. The flames spread so rapidly that many lost all their possessions. About 9 o'clock a terrific down pour of rain helped to extinguish the flames. About seventy-five families are homeless. The loss will aggregate $350,000.

Humane Physician Furnishes Ice Water for Canine Wayfarers.

Washington, May 26.—"Ice water for dogs." This is the inscription, neatly lettered, on a sign displayed before a small shallow zinc trough in front of a physician's office in Washington. The trough is painted a sky blue color, and always contains water which passes through a refrigerator. By a floating valve the flow of water is regulated. The dogs are not supposed to read the sign, but they have discovered that the water is for their benefit, and many of them stop daily to drink from the trough.

AN OPEN LETTER

From Mr. W. H. Jones, of This City, to Hon. W. D. Bynum.

The Cause of the Evils to Our Monetary System Lies Back of the Coinage Question.

The following open letter, written by Mr. Wm. H. Jones, of this city, to Hon. W. D. Bynum, of Indianapolis, is given by Mr. Jones to The Sentinel for publication:

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 25, 1896.

Hon. W. D. Bynum, [illegible]

Dear Sir.—Your appeal for a general consultation among the leaders of the democratic party at Indianapolis on the 28th inst., on the ratio between gold and silver in the coinage, prompts me to suggest that the cause of the evils which you propose to remedy on 60 short notice, lies back of the coinage, and is strongly intrenched in the constitution itself. It is this constitutional cause that produces the evils complained of; and I respectfully submit for the calm judgment of yourself and associates, that no amount of counseling among party leaders over the results of it, can be productive of permanent good, until the cause that produces them shall be removed. This constitutional cause and source of the evils complained of in the gold and silver coinage, is found in the provision that allows senate amendments to house bills for raising revenues; thus taking control of the national revenues out of the hands of the people's only immediate representatives in the government, and placing that control, together with that of the national finances that depend upon the revenues, under paramount control of the senate, that owns no shadow of responsibility of any kind, either direct or contingent, immediate or remote, to the people of the United States.

Though it is no part of the present purpose to attempt a full statement of the causes that compelled the framers to put this exclusion of the people from control of their public revenues in the constitution, it seems needful to say that the provision owes its existence in the constitution to the extreme jealousy of the states, lest the separate sovereignty of each should be wiped out, unless the paramount control of all federal legislation—that of the national revenues included—should be lodged in the senate. But for this groundless apprehension, control of the public revenues must have remained in the hands of the immediate representatives of the people, under the federal constitution, just as it had been in the house of commons of the British parliament for hundreds of years before our own constitution was established. (See Blackstone's Commentaries, marginal page 169 of vol 1)

I am led by three reflections to ask both yourself and associates to frame some satisfactory answer to the following question, viz:

Why is it that under widely differing forms of government, as well as of national conditions, in England, France and Germany, this constant public nuisance of instability and change in the national revenues and the finances that are founded upon them, is practically unknown? I cannot imagine what your answer, or that of the other party leaders to this question may be, but for myself and for the great mass of other common people who do not aspire to party leadership, and who are supposed to be led by your and other leaders' opinions, I dare affirm, that the difference between the people of the United States and those of the other countries named, in respect to the national revenues and finances, is owing to the fact that in all the European countries named, whatever acts for raising the national revenue are passed by the immediate representatives of the people, are not liable to amendment in any other branch or department of the government, but must be accepted or rejected by them as a whole; while, on the contrary, nothing that our representatives can do in respect to bills for raising the national revenues, and thereby sustaining the national finances that are dependent upon them, is of any force or validity at all, until it has passed the muster of every other department of the government. And "this is what the matter" with both the national revenues and the national finances; and that's what will continue to be the matter with both of them, until the constitution shall be so changed as to give to the immediate representatives of the people in congress the same control of revenue bills as is exercised by the representatives of the people in the other countries named.

I must apologize for so imperfect an outline of what I conceive to be needed to give to the people and government of the United States a stable public policy in respect to the national revenues and finances, that shall not be liable to discussion and change on every change of party administration; but what I have written is the best I can do in the short time that hardly suffices for writing formal regrets for not being able to be present at the proposed conference.

Very respectfully,
Wm H Jones

SHOT HIMSELF.

Suicide of Samuel Fehlman, Formerly of This City.

Samuel Fehlman, formerly a resident of this city, committed suicide Sunday near Decatur. For a year or so Fehlman had been living with a farm family named Schilling. Sunday afternoon the family went to a river not far away to witness a baptizing. When they left Fehlman was sitting in a rocking chair near an open window. When they returned home he was lying on the floor in front of the chair with a bullet hole in his head and a revolver lying on the floor. Fehlman had been dead for some time.

About fifteen years ago Fehlman was married in this city, but his wife lived only a short time. After her death Fehlman became a sad-hearted man and never appeared the same as he had been. Six years ago he went to Decatur and worked about at odd jobs until a year ago, when he went to work for the Schilling family. His constant grieving over the loss of his wife, coupled with ill health, which came upon him in recent years, is supposed to have been the cause of his suicide.

The remains were brought to this city last night and taken to Wellman's undertaking establishment, where they were prepared for burial. Fehlman had a sister, Mrs. Emstine, of Wells street.

A number of school children were bruised and scared by an accident that happened at the Jefferson street school yesterday. A platform had been erected upon which the children were seated for the purpose of having their pictures taken. This platform gave way and precipitated the entire crowd to the ground. Fortunately there were no serious results.

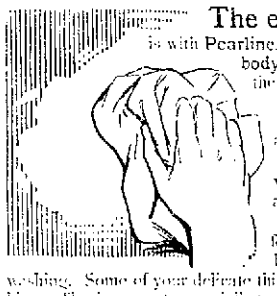
The easiest cleaning is with Pearline. Yes, easiest for everybody. Whether you're doing the hard work of house-cleaning yourself, or having it done, get Pearline and get through with it. It'll do more work, better work, quicker work, than anything else.



You ought to look out for the wear and tear in house-cleaning as well as in washing. Some of your delicate things won't stand much rubbing. They're meant, especially, to be cleaned with Pearline.

About fifty of their friends were assembled to enjoy the event with them and the evening was spent in a pleasant manner. At 10 o'clock a lunch was served. Beware Of Mercury!

Mr. Henry Koch, of 1838 South 9th Street, St. Louis, was given the usual mercurial treatment for contagious blood poison. He was twice pronounced cured, but the disease returned each time, he was seized with rheumatic pains, and red lumps and sores covered his body. "I was in a horrible fix," he says, "and the more treatment I received, the worse I seemed to get. A New York specialist said he could cure me, but his treatment did me no good whatever. I was stiff and full of pains, my left arm was useless so that I was unable to do even the lightest work. This was my condition when I began to take S. S. S., and a few bottles convinced me that I was being benefitted. I continued the medicine, and one dozen bottles cured me sound and well. My system was under the effects of mercury, and I would soon have been a complete wreck but for S. S. S."

S. S. S., (guaranteed purely vegetable) is the only cure for real blood diseases. The mercurial treatment of the doctors always does more harm than good. Beware of mercury!

"THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE"

IN HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE."

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths, the Plain Facts, the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life, Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls, Should Secure the Wonderful, Little Book Called "Complete Manhood, and How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, &c.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever cases of excess, overwork, worry, &c.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, a boon to anxiously seekers, invaluable to men over who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, recently wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I feel a new man already. I intend to tell everybody and tell them my case. I did not believe anything, and my wife was the one who sent for your book. I will say now that I would feel it this way for $100 if I could not get it for less."

We publish this:

"Enclosed find $5 for a 2nd copy of your book. I have sent a cart load of gold money for the first copy I ordered, both gentlemen into my office and ordered books. Yours truly, ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY."

We don't ask you to take the little book at that price. We simply say: "Refer to it before you write us. Then write us if you have any complaints to make." Write us if you have any complaints to make. Write us if you have any complaints to make. Write us if you have any complaints to make.

A GRAND STARTER.

The first day (Saturday) of our Great Advance Cut Clothing Sale is an assurance of its success. The sale started with a rush; by noon it was a jam, and some of our salesmen forgot to go to dinner. At 3 o'clock we were on the run to keep pace with our rush of customers, and the day closed with one of the largest clothing sales in our history. So Much for Keeping Faith with the People. We repeat here our promises of last Friday.

Every Suit in our house in one of these seven big lots, and the original prices guaranteed to be lower, quality considered, than same goods could have been bought for elsewhere.

No Spring! Summer coming apace. We had to do it; that's all! Come take them, now, just when you need them.
